128 Uptown Merchants Protest 10-Cent Hour

Opposing Change in Meter Fee

To Lose Shoppers By Move, They Say

Sully Fleming, president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, said today that 128 uptown merchants signed petitions protesting the proposed increase in parking meter rates in the Uptown business district.

Fleming stated that a group of directors of the association will meet with Mayor Edwin F. Radel at 6 o'clock tonight to submit the petition protesting the increase in parking fees.

May Hurt Business

The merchants feel the proposed increase in parking from five cents for one half hour to 10 cents for a full hour is untimely, particularly due to business competition. Fleming stated that the merchants are of the opinion the increase would have a tremendous psychological effect on the buying public and that any increase would be an inducement to shoppers to do business out of town.

Fleming pointed out that a recent survey showed that about 46 per cent of area residents frequently shop out of town. He stated that an increase in parking rates might be an inducement for some businesses to move outside the city limits.

To See Mayor

The Uptown Businessmen's Association directors will submit the petition to Mayor Radel at 6 p. m. an hour before a special Common Council meeting is scheduled to discuss the parking boost. The proposal was brought up at a council meeting last Tuesday, but action was deferred because of the absence of Alderman Hirschell Mayes (R) First Ward, who represents the area involved.

Fleming said that uptown merchants are of the opinion that the City could increase revenue from parking meters if more rigid control over was maintained at the current parking rates. "We feel that if that was done, the city's revenue would be increased considerably," said Fleming.

Say Customers Complain

The association president, explained that since the plan to increase parking meter rates in the uptown business area became known last week, many customers have complained to merchants.

Under the proposed plan, approximately 180 meters would be involved in four business blocks in the Uptown shopping district.

Rockefeller Backers Push Off-Beat Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The same off-beat campaigning that landed the 1940 Republican presidential nomination for Wendell L. Willkie apparently is under way for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Responsible Republicans brought to last week's meeting of the GOP National Committee here reports that supporters of Rockefeller are seeking to enlist businessmen, professional men and other political amateurs as Rockefeller backers.

A GOP national committeeman who has participated in several presidential campaigns described the tactics as similar to those which helped put Willkie over. He said he has personal knowledge that bankers, lawyers, doctors, insurance men and others with influence in their communities are being urged to line up behind Rockefeller.

The first outward sign of this cropped up recently with the formation of "Californians for Rockefeller." This self-styled group of "political greenhorns," is headed by Charles Lewsadder, Los Angeles businessman.

A state chairman who supports Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the nomination said he knew of similar activities elsewhere in behalf of Rockefeller. He predicted Nixon's backers soon will be doing the same kind of campaigning.

It was explained that Rockefeller himself is standing aloof from these activities. He is holding to the line that his only ambition is to make a good chief executive for his state.

It was noticeable, however, that the governor lost no time in moving one of his closest advisors, George L. Hinman, into a seat as Republican national committeeman from New York.

The Rockefeller forces appear fully satisfied that the committee's new chairman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, will carry out his pledge to remain neutral in any Nixon-Rockefeller contest.

Morton was chosen unanimously to succeed retiring chairman Meade Alcorn at a weekend session in which the committee also voted solidly to hold its 1960 convention in Chicago, the week beginning July 25.

Motion to Dismiss Ryan Indictment Made in Albany

A motion for dismissal of a conspiracy indictment returned against Morgan D. Ryan on March 10, 1959 by the special grand jury was argued before the Appellate Division in Albany today. The motion came on under a show cause signed by Presiding Justice Sydney F. Foster.

Dismissal is sought on the grounds Ryan has been granted immunity because of prior testimony which he gave before the grand jury.

It is alleged Ryan was subpoenaed before the grand jury, declined to sign a general waiver but was nevertheless questioned. N. Levan Haver, counsel for Ryan, alleges this constituted an automatic granting of immunity.

In his papers filed with the court Haver alleges that in a press release Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins publically stated that a witness appearing before the grand jury and declining to sign a waiver of immunity would not be asked to

Launch Satellite As Step Toward Exploring Venus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans to launch a 50-pound satellite next month as a preliminary step toward exploring the planet Venus.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said Sunday night the launching will be attempted from Cape Canaveral, Fla., under NASA supervision. He said a follow-up attempt probably will be made in June to send a satellite into the vicinity of Venus.

Next month's satellite, equipped with four rectangular fins, will have a solar battery much more powerful than the one contained in Vanguard I. The first Vanguard, launched almost 13 months ago, still is orbiting and its solar-powered transmitter is still sending signals. The fins on the planned satellite will provide more area for gathering solar energy.

NASA hopes the new satellite will orbit at a peak altitude of 20,000 to 30,000 miles, dipping to a low altitude of 200 miles. It will contain devices to measure cosmic rays and check magnetic fields.

Nye Is Home, Would Forget Cuba Trouble

CHICAGO (AP) — Alan Robert Nye is back home with his family in nearby Whiting, Ind., and says he wants to forget quickly his imprisonment in Cuba and suspended death sentence for the alleged plot to kill Premier Fidel Castro.

The 31-year-old former U.S. Navy flier landed at Midway Airport Sunday night on a flight from Havana, less than 20 hours after a Cuban military tribunal pronounced a death sentence. The tribunal suspended the sentence on condition Nye leave Cuba within 48 hours.

Nye, who steadfastly maintained his innocence during his 106 days in jail and at the trial, was greeted at the airport by his mother, Mrs. Joseph Lynch, 51.

"We're all right now mom, aren't we?" Nye asked, embracing his mother. "Don't cry. We're safe now."

Asked about his imprionsment and trial, he said: "I can't discuss Cuban politics and I don't want to say anything about my trial."

"Cuban politics don't concern me anymore and never will again. I'll never go back there again." (The military tribunal said Nye will face a firing squad if he ever returns to Cuba).

At New Orleans earlier, Nye said he had about as much chance of getting a fair trial in Havana "as a snowball in that place made famous by Dante."

Three Youngsters Lost in Nation Back at Homes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All-night searches for three youngsters lost in widely separated parts of the nation had happy endings Sunday.

Two little boys were missing in rough mountain country in Colorado and Washington, while a tiny girl wandered away from home in Michigan.

Some 150 searchers, aided by two planes and a bloodhound, combed the woods and pastures near St. Joseph, Mich., for three-year-old Virginia Lee Ford before she was found unharmed and asleep in a weed-covered field about a mile from her home.

The girl, wearing a snowsuit, apparently suffered no ill effects from the sub-freezing weather, doctors said.

Dulles Back in Hospital

Visit From President May Bring Decision About Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Foster Dulles, returning unexpectedly from a Florida rest to a hospital room, undergoes intensive new medical checks today in his battle against cancer.

An expected visit from President Eisenhower during the day could bring a decision on how long Dulles remains as secretary of State.

Eisenhower was reported deeply concerned about Dulles' continuing illness. A high Republican official said the President was informed several days ago that Dulles had not responded to treatment as well as had been hoped.

Eisenhower had arranged his 24-hour return to the capital to keep a series of engagements made before he went to Augusta, Ga., for a golfing vacation.

The 71-year-old secretary, a world-renowned figure in diplomatic battles against the Soviet Union for six years, re-entered the hospital Sunday afternoon.

Looking haggard and considerably underweight, Dulles cut short his Florida rest stay to undergo a new head to toe check-up to determine what could be done to arrest the cancer.

Many of his worried aides glumly reported that barring a medical miracle Dulles probably would have to lay aside the foreign policy chores he loves so dearly.

The President was reported still hopeful that Dulles could serve as special adviser, at least, d

U. S. and Britain Offering Proposal

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Britain asked the Soviet Union today to agree to a prompt controlled suspension of nuclear weapons tests on or near the surface of the earth—leaving the problem of other types of blasts for later negotiations.

Informants said the proposal provided for splitting up the test suspension problem. It was advanced as the three-power talks resumed after an Easter recess.

First Soviet reaction was reported to be negative.

Would Prevent Fallout

Under the new Western plan, agreement would be reached at once on banning surface and atomic nuclear tests — the ones which cause dangerous radioactive fallout.

Such an agreement would not cover very high altitude and underground atomic and hydrogen weapons blasts. Such explosions—difficult to police in any event—could be covered in some subsequent agreement reached after the first problem had been solved.

Two-Part Idea

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore proposed dividing the nuclear problem into two parts with the idea of getting quick agreement on the types of tests easiest to detect. The ending of such tests also would avoid any health hazards to the world's population.

The sources pointed out that the United States and Britain would prefer an agreement covering the entire range of tests. But the Western powers recognized that this confernnce, which began its deliberations on Oct. 31, now was bogged down on East-West differences about controls.

Would Mean Less Policing

Presumably the limited agreement now suggested as a first step would require less elaborate policing arrangements than a total ban. The Western powers, however, want foolproof controls built into any type of agreement they sign.

The plan would ban all tests at or near ground level, which cause dangerous fallout. It would permit high altitude and deep underground blasts, which Western experts contend produce no harmful results.

West Hopeful

Western officials were hopeful their new formula might help soften the Soviet Union's adamant stand against a veto-free inspection system to police the proposed agreement banning nuclear tests.

Judging from the line taken in a Soviet Foreign Ministry statement Sunday, the Soviet position has not changed since the conference recessed March 19 for Easter

Attempt Made On Life of Virginia Governor Almond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Police today maintained an unprecedented security vigil about Virginia's governor after a reported attempt on his life.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. was shot at Friday, officers said, as he walked near the executive mansion en route to the Capitol.

Capitol police doubled their guard at the mansion, State and Richmond city police promised closer surveillance of the Capitol grounds.

"I hate to see more security around here, but I guess I should take the advice of the police authorities," Almond said.

The Virginia governor recently has been the target of abuse and threats from anonymous telephone callers and letter writers who accuse him of selling out in the school segregation issue.

Almond, once an advocate of massive resistance to school integration, recently has taken a more moderate stand.

U. S. and Britain Offering Proposal

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Britain asked the Soviet Union today to agree to a prompt controlled suspension of nuclear weapons tests on or near the surface of the earth—leaving the problem of other types of blasts for later negotiations.

Informants said the proposal provided for splitting up the test suspension problem. It was advanced as the three-power talks resumed after an Easter recess.

First Soviet reaction was reported to be negative.

Would Prevent Fallout

Under the new Western plan, agreement would be reached at once on banning surface and atomic nuclear tests — the ones which cause dangerous radioactive fallout.

Such an agreement would not cover very high altitude and underground atomic and hydrogen weapons blasts. Such explosions—difficult to police in any event—could be covered in some subsequent agreement reached after the first problem had been solved.

Two-Part Idea

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore proposed dividing the nuclear problem into two parts with the idea of getting quick agreement on the types of tests easiest to detect. The ending of such tests also would avoid any health hazards to the world's population.

The sources pointed out that the United States and Britain would prefer an agreement covering the entire range of tests. But the Western powers recognized that this confernnce, which began its deliberations on Oct. 31, now was bogged down on East-West differences about controls.

Would Mean Less Policing

Presumably the limited agreement now suggested as a first step would require less elaborate policing arrangements than a total ban. The Western powers, however, want foolproof controls built into any type of agreement they sign.

The plan would ban all tests at or near ground level, which cause dangerous fallout. It would permit high altitude and deep underground blasts, which Western experts contend produce no harmful results.

West Hopeful

Western officials were hopeful their new formula might help soften the Soviet Union's adamant stand against a veto-free inspection system to police the proposed agreement banning nuclear tests.

Judging from the line taken in a Soviet Foreign Ministry statement Sunday, the Soviet position has not changed since the conference recessed March 19 for Easter

Attempt Made On Life of Virginia Governor Almond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Police today maintained an unprecedented security vigil about Virginia's governor after a reported attempt on his life.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. was shot at Friday, officers said, as he walked near the executive mansion en route to the Capitol.

Capitol police doubled their guard at the mansion. State and Richmond city police promised closer surveillance of the Capitol grounds.

"I hate to see more security around here, but I guess I should take the advice of the police authorities," Almond said.

The Virginia governor recently has been the target of abuse and threats from anonymous telephone callers and letter writers who accuse him of selling out in the school segregation issue.

Almond, once an advocate of massive resistance to school integration, recently has taken a more moderate stand.

Dulles Back in Hospital

Visit From President May Bring Decision About Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Foster Dulles, returning unexpectedly from a Florida rest to a hospital room, undergoes intensive new medical checks today in his battle against cancer.

An expected visit from President Eisenhower during the day could bring a decision on how long Dulles remains as secretary of State.

Eisenhower was reported deeply concerned about Dulles' continuing illness. A high Republican official said the President was informed several days ago that Dulles had not responded to treatment as well as had been hoped.

Eisenhower had arranged his 24-hour return to the capital to keep a series of engagements made before he went to Augusta, Ga., for a golfing vacation.

The 71-year-old secretary, a world-renowned figure in diplomatic battles against the Soviet Union for six years, re-entered the hospital Sunday afternoon.

Looking haggard and considerably underweight, Dulles cut short his Florida rest stay to undergo a new head to toe check-up to determine what could be done to arrest the cancer.

Many of his worried aides glumly reported that barring a medical miracle Dulles probably would have to lay aside the foreign policy chores he loves so dearly.

The President was reported still hopeful that Dulles could serve as special adviser, at least, d[illegible]

Pigeons May Aid Quest to Solve Heart Disease

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Pigeons may provide new and valuable aid in the quest to solve the riddle of a major cause of heart disease, a group of North Carolina scientists reported today.

Dr. T. B. Clarkson and three associates of Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, reported they had discovered at least one variety of pigeons fulfilling a long and hitherto fruitless search by science for "an inexpensive and readily available animal with spontaneous atherosclerosis."

Atherosclerosis, which gets part of its name from the Greek word athero, meaning porridge, is a condition in which a mush material accumulates on the inner lining of blood vessels, thus narrowing the passageways for blood.

The condition is the cause of coronary heart attacks and cerebral strokes in man. The search for its specific origin and for means to prevent it constitutes one of the great efforts of medical science.

In laboratory research, scientists have reproduced it artificially in a number of animal species. But the ideal laboratory subject is an animal which gets the disease naturally. The few animals that do so have been expensive or difficult to procure, thus hindering research, the North Carolina doctors said.

They told about the pigeon find in a scientific exhibit prepared for the opening of the 43rd annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Researchers H. B. Lofland, R. W. Prichard and M. G. Netsky were the other three authors of the report.

Biochemical studies of the pigeon disease—including its mode and rate of development, the effects of diet and interbreeding and a search for means of prevention—are now under way.

Launching Today Of Satellites Appears Probable

WASHINGTON (AP)— Launchings today of satellites from both the West and East coasts appeared likely.

The twin bill of space shoots would be a polar-orbiting Discoverer launching from California's Vandenberg Air Force Base and the first three-in-one Vanguard firing from Florida's Cape Canaveral.

Until Sunday, military and space authorities had declined to say when either of the shoots would be made. Then Roy W. Johnson, director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency, said about 4 p.m. that the Discoverer launching would come within 12 hours.

Johnson's statement, made during an address at New Canaan, Conn., brought no confirmation from the Vandenberg base.

However, such a launching of the second Discoverer from the Vandenberg base would be in line with the announced plan to send one up every four or five weeks this year. The first one was launched Feb. 28.

Wallkill Man Gets $17,500 for Injuries

Albert Haessig Jr., 47, of Plains Road, Wallkill, has received an award of $17,500 at Poughkeepsie for injuries he suffered July 27, 1957, in a traffic accident on Route 9W near Milton.

Supreme Court Justice Charles Doscher made the award and assessed damages against Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anthony DeFrance, of 26 Briarwood Drive, Poughkeepsie.

Justice Doscher, who conducted a trial without a jury, dismissed a counterclaim by Mr. and Mrs. DeFrance who sought damages of $10,000.

The civil actions stemmed from a collision involving a motorcycle driven by Haessig and a car operated by DeFrance in Route 9W near the Old Milton Turnpike.

Rosendale Woman Drowning Death Termed Suicide

Miss Lena Walz, 61, was drowned in the Rondout Creek at Rosendale Saturday and the death was called "suicide" by Coroner Frank J. McCardle, who conducted an investigation.

Miss Walz was reported missing from the home of her brother Christian Walz on Lower James Street, Rosendale, about 3 p. m. Sheriff Claude Bell was notified by members of the family where she resided. It was reported there had been an argument last Wednesday and Saturday morning after Mr. and Mrs. Walz left for work about 8 a. m. Miss Walz told their daughter, Catherine, she probably would not be at home when Catherine came home.

Miss Walz was found missing about noon when Mrs. Walz and her daughter arrived home and a search was instituted. However it was not until about 3 p. m. that the sheriff was notified. Deputy Sheriff Arthur Roland went to the house and with Clinton Mushlit, village police officer, a search of the area was begun. About 4 p. m. Deputy Roland observed an object floating in the creek about 25 feet off shore from the Walz home. Securing a rowboat the officers rowed to the spot and discovered a body which was later identified as that of Miss Walz. Assisting in the search was a friend of the family, a Mr. Modjeska.

The body was brought to shore and Coroner McCardle notified.

Miss Walz was a native of Germany and had lived in Rosendale for 36 years.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, 2 p. m. at George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Rosendale. Burial will be in Rosendale Plains Cemetery.

Jimmy Gleason, Actor, Author of Plays Succumbs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Vinegary little Jimmy Gleason, an actor for most of his 76 years, died Sunday night after an illness of almost a year.

Gleason was noted for his dour humor and his masterful double take — talents which took him from the New York stage through more than two decades of Hollywood films.

His first role was being carried onstage in a play—at 2 months of age.

His last film role was as one of Spencer Tracy's political cronies in "The Last Hurrah." Many of his films are being shown now on television, including the Joe Palooka series, in which he played a fight manager.

In addition to acting, Gleason was also a producer and the author of two plays produced in New York. His film roles include "Life of Riley," "Come Fill the Cup," "What Price Glory" and "Here Comes Mr. Jordan."

Death came at the Motion Picture Country House Hospital in nearby Woodland Hills. He entered the hospital almost a year ago, suffering from chronic asthma.

Young Boy Found In Wooded Area

At 3:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mrs. Alice Tochterman of Winchell Road, Creek Locks reported her 2½ year old son was missing.

Deputy Sheriffs Arthur B. Smith and Ernest Longyear searched the creek banks and nearby wooded areas without success. Assistance from the Bloomington fire department was sought and 60 men turned out for the search. At 4:15 Robert Taylor and Richard Yonetti of the fire department found the boy about a mile from his home happily playing in a sand pit in a densely wooded area.

County Is

duty are excepted from this restriction, and will be permitted passage to their destination.

Vehicles at emergency work locations, such as telephone, electric, water and sewer, should not be left unguarded during the 10-minute "take-cover" period. One man from each vehicle or work crew shall be exempt from taking shelter during this time. He shall remain with his vehicle or at his work location and all other members of the crew shall seek shelter if available.

Pedestrians — All pedestrians shall be directed to take shelter in stores, public building, and in places other than private residences or in establishments where such congregating would interfere with business. If no shelter is available, they will be expected to stand close to an object, such as a tree, stone wall, etc., but will not be required to lie down on the ground as would be necessary in an actual attack.

Schools Instructed

Schools — Upon hearing the "take cover," all activity will cease and all school personnel and pupils will proceed to the nearest available shelter and remain there for the 10-minute period in accordance with the school's "take cover" plan.

For schools that have not a Civil Defense drill in recent weeks, it is suggested that they tie-in a "go home" drill with the exercise. If this drill is held, it is further suggested that it be held at 2 p. m. since this time would result in little school time loss.

Air traffic — Planes in flight will be permitted to land. Any planes on the ground will wait for take off until the test is concluded.

Railroads Continue

Railroads—No rail traffic will be expected to halt.

Official personnel—Because of the nature of their duties, all regular police, sheriffs, constables and properly identified Civil Defense Auxiliary Police who must enforce these regulations, will not be required to take shelter. All Civil Defense personnel will display an attitude of helpfulness, patience and forebearance during the "take cover."

At 1:40 p. m., a steady blast will mark the "all clear."

Civil Defense problems devised for the exercises deal with hypothetical burst of nuclear weapons.

Simulated Raids

The simulated raids will be on New York City, Nassau County points, the Albany-Troy-Schenectady region, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton and the Plattsburgh-Massena area.

For Civil Defense personnel the exercise will continue on through the next day during which time control center problems will be studied.

$63,833 Allotted Ulster County For Fuel Taxes

Ulster County will receive $63,833.86 as its share of the distribution of $2,588,721.79 in state motor fund tax receipts to the 57 counties outside New York city.

Announcement of the distribution was made today by State Comptorller Arthur Levitt.

This total is the share of state collected motor fuel tax for the three months ending March 31, 1959 which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the State Highway Law.

The law provides that 10 per cent of the statewide collection of the state's gasoline tax and the tax on diesel motor fuel are allotted to the counties on the proportional basis of county road and town highway mileage in each county. The money is earmarked by statute for deposit in the county road funds.

362 of 107,394 Vehicles Required Repairs on Check

ALBANY—Only 362 out of 107,394 vehicles that were tested under the periodic motor vehicle inspection program during March were found to require adjustments or repairs in one or more of the safety points checked during the inspection procedure, Commissioner William S. Hults of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles reported today.

As a result of these rejections and the failure of the owners of the vehicles to have the ears and trucks repaired and reinspected during the allotted 10-day period, plates of 188 of them were suspended. The balance had been reinspected before the suspensions were issued.

Also suspended as a result of police reports of uninspected vehicles on the road were 28 other sets of plates while 47 such suspensions resulted from reports by Motor Vehicle license examiners.

During March, the bureau received 24 complaints against inspection stations for investigation by State Police and 60 hearings on alleged violations by the stations were held. Fifteen station licenses were suspended and 10 revoked following hearings. State Police also made 2,509 regular periodic inspections of stations in the month.

The bureau also received 1,747 reports of convictions against owners who were driving vehicles either uninspected or whose stickers had expired. No reports of unrepairable vehicles have been received as yet in 1959.

Connie Nicholas to Return to Stand

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Connie Nicholas returns to the witness stand today for more cross-examination as her first-degree murder trial enters its fifth week.

The brunette divorcee, who observed her 45th birthday Sunday in a guarded hospital ward, is accused of the fatal shooting of Forrest Teel, 54, wealthy drug firm executive and her lover for 15 years.

Mrs. Nicholas refused to see anyone except her brother, sister and brother-in-law. Hospital authorities said she was bothered by a sore throat and sinus condition and seemed rather nervous.

Mrs. Nicholas maintains her married lover beat her and that her small French pistol fired accidentally during a struggle in Teel's parked car last July 31.

Pigeons May Aid Quest to Solve Heart Disease

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Pigeons may provide new and valuable aid in the quest to solve the riddle of a major cause of heart disease, a group of North Carolina scientists reported today.

Dr. T. B. Clarkson and three associates of Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, reported they had discovered at least one variety of pigeons fulfilling a long and hitherto fruitless search by science for "an inexpensive and readily available animal with spontaneous atherosclerosis."

Atherosclerosis, which gets part of its name from the Greek word athero, meaning porridge, is a condition in which a mush material accumulates on the inner lining of blood vessels, thus narrowing the passageways for blood.

The condition is the cause of coronary heart attacks and cerebral strokes in man. The search for its specific origin and for means to prevent it constitutes one of the great efforts of medical science.

In laboratory research, scientists have reproduced it artificially in a number of animal species. But the ideal laboratory subject is an animal which gets the disease naturally. The few animals that do so have been expensive or difficult to procure, thus hindering research, the North Carolina doctors said.

They told about the pigeon find in a scientific exhibit prepared for the opening of the 43rd annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Researchers H. B. Lofland, R. W. Prichard and M. G. Netsky were the other three authors of the report.

Biochemical studies of the pigeon disease—including its mode and rate of development, the effects of diet and interbreeding and a search for means of prevention—are now under way.

Launching Today Of Satellites Appears Probable

WASHINGTON (AP)— Launchings today of satellites from both the West and East coasts appeared likely.

The twin bill of space shoots would be a polar-orbiting Discoverer launching from California's Vandenberg Air Force Base and the first three-in-one Vanguard firing from Florida's Cape Canaveral.

Until Sunday, military and space authorities had declined to say when either of the shoots would be made. Then Roy W. Johnson, director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency, said about 4 p.m. that the Discoverer launching would come within 12 hours.

Johnson's statement, made during an address at New Canaan, Conn., brought no confirmation from the Vandenberg base.

However, such a launching of the second Discoverer from the Vandenberg base would be in line with the announced plan to send one up every four or five weeks this year. The first one was launched Feb. 28.

Wallkill Man Gets $17,500 for Injuries

Albert Haessig Jr., 47, of Plains Road, Wallkill, has received an award of $17,500 at Poughkeepsie for injuries he suffered July 27, 1957, in a traffic accident on Route 9W near Milton.

Supreme Court Justice Charles Doscher made the award and assessed damages against Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anthony DeFrance, of 26 Briarwood Drive, Poughkeepsie.

Justice Doscher, who conducted a trial without a jury, dismissed a counterclaim by Mr. and Mrs. DeFrance who sought damages of $10,000.

The civil actions stemmed from a collision involving a motorcycle driven by Haessig and a car operated by DeFrance in Route 9W near the Old Milton Turnpike.

Rosendale Woman Drowning Death Termed Suicide

Miss Lena Walz, 61, was drowned in the Rondout Creek at Rosendale Saturday and the death was called "suicide" by Coroner Frank J. McCardle, who conducted an investigation.

Miss Walz was reported missing from the home of her brother Christian Walz on Lower James Street, Rosendale, about 3 p. m. Sheriff Claude Bell was notified by members of the family where she resided. It was reported there had been an argument last Wednesday and Saturday morning after Mr. and Mrs. Walz left for work about 8 a. m. Miss Walz told their daughter, Catherine, she probably would not be at home when Catherine came home.

Miss Walz was found missing about noon when Mrs. Walz and her daughter arrived home and a search was instituted. However it was not until about 3 p. m. that the sheriff was notified. Deputy Sheriff Arthur Roland went to the house and with Clinton Mushlit, village police officer, a search of the area was begun. About 4 p. m. Deputy Roland observed an object floating in the creek about 25 feet off shore from the Walz home. Securing a rowboat the officers rowed to the spot and discovered a body which was later identified as that of Miss Walz. Assisting in the search was a friend of the family, a Mr. Modjeska.

The body was brought to shore and Coroner McCardle notified.

Miss Walz was a native of Germany and had lived in Rosendale for 36 years.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, 2 p. m. at George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Rosendale. Burial will be in Rosendale Plains Cemetery.

Jimmy Gleason, Actor, Author of Plays Succumbs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Vinegary little Jimmy Gleason, an actor for most of his 76 years, died Sunday night after an illness of almost a year.

Gleason was noted for his dour humor and his masterful double take — talents which took him from the New York stage through more than two decades of Hollywood films.

His first role was being carried onstage in a play—at 2 months of age.

His last film role was as one of Spencer Tracy's political cronies in "The Last Hurrah." Many of his films are being shown now on television, including the Joe Palooka series, in which he played a fight manager.

In addition to acting, Gleason was also a producer and the author of two plays produced in New York. His film roles include "Life of Riley," "Come Fill the Cup," "What Price Glory" and "Here Comes Mr. Jordan."

Death came at the Motion Picture Country House Hospital in nearby Woodland Hills. He entered the hospital almost a year ago, suffering from chronic asthma.

Young Boy Found In Wooded Area

At 3:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mrs. Alice Tochterman of Winchell Road, Creek Locks reported her 2½ year old son was missing.

Deputy Sheriffs Arthur B. Smith and Ernest Longyear searched the creek banks and nearby wooded areas without success. Assistance from the Bloomington fire department was sought and 60 men turned out for the search. At 4:15 Robert Taylor and Richard Yonetti of the fire department found the boy about a mile from his home happily playing in a sand pit in a densely wooded area.

County Is

duty are excepted from this restriction, and will be permitted passage to their destination.

Vehicles at emergency work locations, such as telephone, electric, water and sewer, should not be left unguarded during the 10-minute "take-cover" period. One man from each vehicle or work crew shall be exempt from taking shelter during this time. He shall remain with his vehicle or at his work location and all other members of the crew shall seek shelter if available.

Pedestrians — All pedestrians shall be directed to take shelter in stores, public building, and in places other than private residences or in establishments where such congregating would interfere with business. If no shelter is available, they will be expected to stand close to an object, such as a tree, stone wall, etc., but will not be required to lie down on the ground as would be necessary in an actual attack.

Schools Instructed

Schools — Upon hearing the "take cover," all activity will cease and all school personnel and pupils will proceed to the nearest available shelter and remain there for the 10-minute period in accordance with the school's "take cover" plan.

For schools that have not a Civil Defense drill in recent weeks, it is suggested that they tie-in a "go home" drill with the exercise. If this drill is held, it is further suggested that it be held at 2 p. m. since this time would result in little school time loss.

Air traffic — Planes in flight will be permitted to land. Any planes on the ground will wait for take off until the test is concluded.

Railroads Continue

Railroads—No rail traffic will be expected to halt.

Official personnel—Because of the nature of their duties, all regular police, sheriffs, constables and properly identified Civil Defense Auxiliary Police who must enforce these regulations, will not be required to take shelter. All Civil Defense personnel will display an attitude of helpfulness, patience and forebearance during the "take cover."

At 1:40 p. m., a steady blast will mark the "all clear."

Civil Defense problems devised for the exercises deal with hypothetical burst of nuclear weapons.

Simulated Raids

The simulated raids will be on New York City, Nassau County points, the Albany-Troy-Schenectady region, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton and the Plattsburgh-Massena area.

For Civil Defense personnel the exercise will continue on through the next day during which time control center problems will be studied.

$63,833 Allotted Ulster County For Fuel Taxes

Ulster County will receive $63,833.86 as its share of the distribution of $2,588,721.79 in state motor fund tax receipts to the 57 counties outside New York city.

Announcement of the distribution was made today by State Comptorller Arthur Levitt.

This total is the share of state collected motor fuel tax for the three months ending March 31, 1959 which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the State Highway Law.

The law provides that 10 per cent of the statewide collection of the state's gasoline tax and the tax on diesel motor fuel are allotted to the counties on the proportional basis of county road and town highway mileage in each county. The money is earmarked by statute for deposit in the county road funds.

362 of 107,394 Vehicles Required Repairs on Check

ALBANY—Only 362 out of 107,394 vehicles that were tested under the periodic motor vehicle inspection program during March were found to require adjustments or repairs in one or more of the safety points checked during the inspection procedure, Commissioner William S. Hults of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles reported today.

As a result of these rejections and the failure of the owners of the vehicles to have the ears and trucks repaired and reinspected during the allotted 10-day period, plates of 188 of them were suspended. The balance had been reinspected before the suspensions were issued.

Also suspended as a result of police reports of uninspected vehicles on the road were 28 other sets of plates while 47 such suspensions resulted from reports by Motor Vehicle license examiners.

During March, the bureau received 24 complaints against inspection stations for investigation by State Police and 60 hearings on alleged violations by the stations were held. Fifteen station licenses were suspended and 10 revoked following hearings. State Police also made 2,509 regular periodic inspections of stations in the month.

The bureau also received 1,747 reports of convictions against owners who were driving vehicles either uninspected or whose stickers had expired. No reports of unrepairable vehicles have been received as yet in 1959.

Connie Nicholas to Return to Stand

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Connie Nicholas returns to the witness stand today for more cross-examination as her first-degree murder trial enters its fifth week.

The brunette divorcee, who observed her 45th birthday Sunday in a guarded hospital ward, is accused of the fatal shooting of Forrest Teel, 54, wealthy drug firm executive and her lover for 15 years.

Mrs. Nicholas refused to see anyone except her brother, sister and brother-in-law. Hospital authorities said she was bothered by a sore throat and sinus condition and seemed rather nervous.

Mrs. Nicholas maintains her married lover beat her and that her small French pistol fired accidentally during a struggle in Teel's parked car last July 31.

Voluntary Action On Radio Liquor Ads Is Suggested

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Voluntary policing of liquor advertising beamed across the border into Canada has been suggested at a meeting of Protestant clergymen and advertising men.

Canada prohibits advertising liquor, wine or beer, except in Quebec where limited beer-advertising is allowed.

Churchmen in Canada have objected to some practices of liquor advertisers on American radio and television stations that can be received in Canada.

About 60 ministers and laymen met Friday and Saturday in informal, closed sessions. The group said in a statement that no definite conclusions were reached, but also suggested that voluntary action would be the best way to solve the problem.

The Rev. Fred N. Poulton of Toronto, a secretary in the Canadian Council of Churches, said the main concern was American advertisements that give telephone numbers in Canadian cities that Canadians can call to find out where to buy beer and liquor.

He said the American ads thus "can aid Canadian breweries and distilleries to circumvent Canadian law."

"We have no quarrel with the right of American media to advertise Canadian products," he said. "We feel this is mainly a moral and ethical problem that can be solved by cooperation."

In Havana a daily newspaper recently was printed on paper made entirely from bagasse, a by-product of sugar cane.

M. S. Teller Brochure to Be on Stands April 25

Kingston Architect Tells of Old Stone Homes for '59 Celebration

The Ulster County Historical Society takes pride in presenting as part of its contribution to New York State's Year of History a booklet entitled "The Early Stone Houses of Ulster County, New York," written by Myron S. Teller, a member of the society.

The brochure tells the story of the original houses, their characteristic features some of which were developed to meet circumstances faced by the early pioneers, some brought from the mother country. These together created a unique and pure architectural form. Well illustrated with photographs and explanatory drawings, it should be invaluable to both architect and layman and should be required reading for all who would understand and truly appreciate the old houses.

Authority on Old Dutch Houses

Mr. Teller is a well known Kingston architect and recognized authority on this subject. His first work in what was to become his chosen field was the designing of a stone house for Jules Breuchaud in Olive Bridge, adapting the style and details found in early Dutch farm houses. This accomplishment aroused much interest among eminent architects and was the subject of articles in the Architectural Record and in the Arts and Decoration magazine. "Rarely has there been a more thorough or convincing example of true American architecture or a country house more appropriate to its immediate locality" was the conclusion of the latter article.

There followed the restoration of many of the old stone houses in Kingston and Ulster County, among them the present D.A.R. house, the Garret Van Kueren, Tobias Van Buren, Cornelias Van Buren, John McLean house, the Sally Tocks Inn at Stone Ridge, to mention but a few. At this time Mr. Teller, unable to find the hand forged hardware typical of that used in old houses, decided to make it.

Duplicated Designs

Undaunted by the difficulty of recreating and almost vanished craft, Mr. Teller found a blacksmith capable of forging suitable hinges, latches etc. and under his tutelage hardware was produced which duplicated the various designs of early Dutch, French, German and English origin used by the original builders. Soon there was a demand by other architects working on restorations and the hardware was used for such interesting buildings as George Washington's birthplace, Wakefield Va., The Jumel Mansion in New York City, Dean Mathey's House, Princeton, N. J., and many other private and public buildings.

At the Philadelphia Sesquicentenial Exposition in 1926, Mr. Teller was engaged to furnish the old style hardware for the houses built to represent High Street of 1776. During the exposition he leased the blacksmith shop in the street, set up an old forge and had one of his blacksmiths working there to demonstrate the hand forging of pieces of this early craft. A letter and medal from the Mayor and President of the Exposition honored him for his services.

Engaged for Research

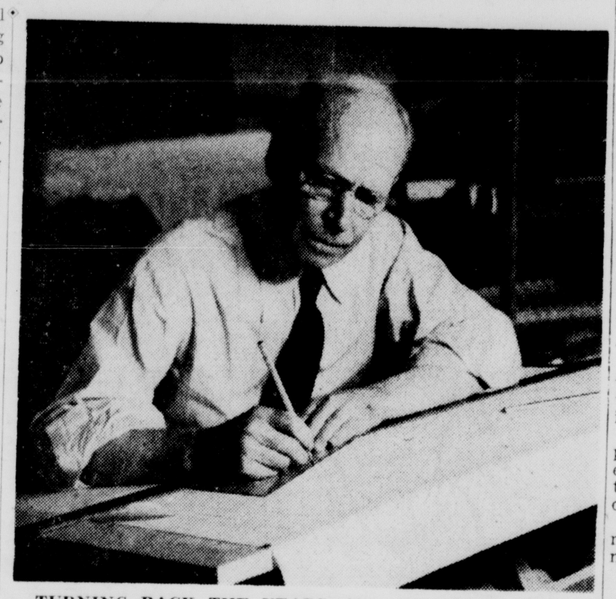
Mr. Teller provided the colonial hardware for the restoration of Philipse Castle and the mill in Sleepy Hollow and later the Director of the Tarrytown Historical Society engaged him to do the research and architectural work for an old Dutch barn, to replace and represent the one lost at Philipse Manor. After examining old barns in several counties he finally found one in our old town of Hurley, of just the type he had been searching, for and was fortunate to find the owner willing to sell the barn. So he bought it, had it dismantled, moved and re-erected at Philipse Manor, where it may be seen today, a real Antique Dutch barn, instead of a reproduction.

Mr. Teller was also engaged to service the architectural work for the restoration of Washington Irving's home, "Sunny Side," now one of three Sleepy Hollow Restorations.

Shares His Knowledge

Harry Rigby Jr. of the New York State Commission on Historic Observances has graciously written the introduction to the brochure. In this he says, "Mr. Teller repeatedly has been urged to record and share his knowledge as a matter of historical obligation. This brochure is the result."

Jansen H. Preston, president of the Ulster County Historical Society, has announced that the booklet will be available to members at the meeting of the society on April 25 and by that date at bookshops throughout the county.



TURNING BACK THE YEARS—Myron S. Teller, author of "The Early Stone Houses of Ulster County, New York," is shown working on the restoration of "Sunny Side," Washington Irving's old home in Tarrytown, N. Y. His brochure, with photographs and explanatory drawings, will be presented by the Ulster County Historical Society of which he is a member as part of its contribution to New York State's Year of History. Regarded as invaluable to architects and laymen, it is scheduled to be on bookstands by April 25.

Motels to Post Maximum Rates

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A bill signed by Gov. Rockefeller requires motel owners in the state to post maximum rates and keep charges within them.

Effective June 1, the bill extends to motels the regulations that have applied to hotels and inns.

It requires that motel rates be posted in each rental unit. Owners may not charge rates higher than those posted in rooms or on outdoor advertising signs.

The bill was among several measures approved by the governor over the weekend.

Other bills:

1. Create 300 additional state scholarships for veterans of military service during the Korean War.

2. Increase from 9 to 15 the membership of the State Fair Advisory Board. Members are not paid.

3. Eliminate the requirement that an applicant for a hunting or fishing license must state his place of birth.

4. Authorize the Conservation Department to close the open season on bear in any county or region where the bear population becomes too small to warrant an open season.

The new scholarships carry a stipend of $350 a year for four years study in colleges or vocational schools. A total of 2,700 such scholarships for war veterans had been established previously.

Students Rescued After Canoes Overturn

ALTMAR, N. Y. (AP)—A spring outing brushed disaster Sunday when two canoes carrying seven Syracuse University students overturned on the Salmon River.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WEEK

Governor Rockefeller's proclamation designating the week of April 12-19 as Chamber of Commerce Week marks the first time such recognition has been given to the Chamber of Commerce movement in New York State. A similar proclamation by Mayor Radel calls particular attention to our own local Chamber here in Kingston. We believe these tributes are well earned, and we cannot help but wonder why this recognition has been so long in coming.

Perhaps part of the answer lies in the fact that, as someone has suggested, sometimes the Chamber does its job so well that it is taken for granted by both members and the public. Also, too often the Chamber of Commerce movement is thought to be concerned solely with the advancement of Commerce and industry. Even if this alone were true, then the Chamber would certainly deserve our accolade, for a healthy business climate is essential to the welfare of a free society. Actually, however, Chambers of Commerce in communities throughout our State and nation have exhibited a truly remarkable diversity of interests. To quote James J. Thornton, president of the New York State Chamber of Commerce Executives, "Businessmen cooperating through their local Chambers of Commerce have been active in most major civic, cultural, educational and philanthropic advance that has been made since the establishment of the State of New York."

The many good deeds and worthy projects undertaken by our own Chamber of Commerce here in Kingston certainly lends substance to Mr. Thornton"s words. Particularly, we have in mind promotion of industrial and business expansion, legislative activities, work for the improvement of area highways, establishment of a Planning Board and support for planning, the establishment of one-way traffic in congested areas, the twenty-four hour ski information, recognition of our schools and the teachers, promotion of favorable publicity and many other projects.

The people of Kingston join Governor Rockefeller and Mayor Radel in saluting our Chamber of Commerce. Best wishes from your friends and neighbors!

DIRECT ATOMIC POWER

International tensions and the running debate over U. S. military strength tend to obscure developments in the peacetime uses of nuclear energy. It is good to be reminded occasionally that with reasonable luck those developments will surpass nuclear weapons in significance for mankind.

Such a reminder can be read into the news that the energy of a nuclear reactor at Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory has been converted directly into electric power. This is the experimental proof of a method that may eventually bypass the need for turbines in the massive harnessing of nuclear power to do man's work.

News of this scientific triumph does not ease world tensions. It does not in itself lessen the imminent chance that nations may begin to hurl nuclear death at one another. Yet there is something comforting in the knowledge that not all atomic research is directed at perfection of ever more terrible weapons. In the long run, the cheap and readily available power from conversion of atomic energy to electrical energy may end the need to stockpile bombs.

THE ROYAL PREROGATIVE

The gathering of news is always a difficult and complicated process, for much of the news that comes to any reporter is rumor, guess and perhaps absolute falsehood. Governments seek to slant news in their own favor; so do corporations, labor unions and political parties. It takes considerable background knowledge and experience to separate the rubbish from the seemingly correct.

Our government, since the beginning of World War II, has increased its war powers of censorship which still continue to be in force. The Pentagon and the State Department and many other agencies of government use "the royal prerogative" to keep secret from the people what they have a right to know. Actually, little of the secrecy is justified even on the grounds of military preparedness. The American people were never told about what was going on at the Manhattan Project but the Russians managed to know all about it and to steal the atom bomb with the assistance of Dr. Klaus Fuchs and the Rosenbergs.

The suppression of information concerning the expenditures of public funds by individual Representatives and Senators is an affront to the people. It is, as Dr. Harold L. Cross has used the expression, "a barricade of secrecy against the people."

It is not profitable to keep the people uninformed or falsely informed because the course of events bring the truth to the surface sooner or later. For instance, the essence of our troubles over Berlin is the stupid arrangement among the Allies at the end of World War II for the zoning of the city among the Allies without a proper exit from the Western Powers' zones except through Russian dominated territory. The absurdity of the arrangement should have been obvious to the Allied commanders and diplomats. They arranged a bear trap for their own undoing.

It makes no sense to talk about hindsight. It was their business to have foresight. That is why they were employed. Similarly there is no use getting emotional about Tibet now. Obviously when the United States assisted the Chinese Communists to gain control because General George Marshall and his advisers disliked Chiang Kai-shek and his entourage, they paved the way for Soviet imperialism to develop in China by the use of the Chienlung line. Perhaps the youngsters who took over the Far Eastern desks in the State Department during the Roosevelt regime had never heard about the Chienlung line, but Nehru is hearing plenty about it today, namely that the Chienlung line includes territories now held by India. The Chienlung line represents the greatest expansion of Chinese imperialism in the centuries of history of that country.

The Tibetan revolt is many months old. It has long been discussed among those closely interested in Chinese affairs, but very little was said about it in the American press. The reason is that it was not an officially reported rebellion until it was nearly over and the Lalai Lama was on his way to sanctuary in India—a sanctuary that could lead to a limited conflagration among the border states between Red China and neutral India. Really, there can no longer be any neutrality between Red China and India as Nehru undoubtedly now realizes.

Much that is either kept secret or is temporarily suppressed is confusing when it emerges to the surface. Spot news, a bulletin, a headline read on radio are of little value these days. Background exploriation is essential because everything is so different from what it seems to be. The headline reader is a very confused person because what he reads is a footnote to an event in motion, often in a tumultuous motion which even those who are directing its course do not understand.

For instance, Secretary of Defense McElroy is comforted that we have not lost all in Iraq and he draws the analogy that we have not lost all in Indonesia. Neither McElroy nor anyone else can, at this moment, foretell what has been lost in either Iraq or Indonesia. The confusion in those countries produces a cloudy X-ray plate.

The complications are numerous, but the habit of both the Pentagon and the State Department to suppress information which it is not generally advantageous to suppress, in no manner helps the citizen to understand what is going on and therefore he, the citizen, often surprised to discover his country closer to war than he imagined possible.

Tranquilizers Are Real Aid, But Should Not Be Taken Constantly

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Today's first question must be of interest to thousands, if not millions, of people.

Q—What are tranquilizing pills and what are they for? Are they harmful?—Mrs. R. S.

A—There are now a large number of preparations on the market known as tranquilizers. They carry a great many different names and they have several different kinds of chemical composition, uses and actions.

In general, they are designed to quiet the emotions and thus decrease "worry." They are therefore used in many different conditions, such as certain forms of high blood pressure, coronary artery disease, emotional disturbances of many different kinds, as an aid in the care of patients with certain forms of mental illness, and for many others.

They appear to be relatively harmless when taken in the prescribed doses, but I do not believe that tranquilizers (any more than any other drug) should be taken unless there is a definite need.)

Q—In a recent physical examination by physician found that my liver had dropped, but made no more comment. Is there anything further which should be done?—Mrs. K.

A—The diagnosis of dropped liver is made less frequently now than in the past. It implies that the liver is not firmly attached above and has dropped lower into the abdominal cavity. Without other signs or symptoms, I presume this can be ignored.

However, it is also possible that the liver has been enlarged rather than "dropped" and this may call for further investigations as to the cause.

Q—Is it wrong for a man to have at least a pint of wine on his way home from work each day and consume a quart on Sunday morning before breakfast? Although he doesn't become mean, he is fast losing the love and respect of his wife and children, and the family income is small.—Reader.

A—For selfish reasons, this man is depriving his family of things they need. This amount of regular drinking, together with the fact (which the letter adds) that he sneaks bottles into the house thinking people will not know it, suggests that he is already an alcoholic.

It would be wise if he stopped altogether, both for the sake of his family and his own health.

Q—Is rickets inherited? If the father had rickets when he was a baby would the children have it?—Mrs. H. R.

A—Rickets is not inherited. It is the result of a deficiency of vitamin D in the body during childhood. If a child receives sufficient amounts of this vitamin he will not acquire rickets even though his father had it.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Kentucky Senator Thruston Ballard Morton, slated for election as GOP national chairman at the Republican National Committee meeting, will take the job as an allout Eisenhower supporter. He has been one consistently since 1952.

The senator's politics are based on the belief that the President is still the most popular leader in the country. Moreover, he believes that the Republicans will have to run on the Eisenhower record in 1960.

Speculation that Senator Morton's selection to head the party was first approved by Vice President Nixon, now the most likely GOP nominee next year, is denied. Morton has supported Nixon on many occasions and filled in as presiding officer of the Senate when Nixon was away. But the vice president had nothing to do with clearing the appointment.

RUMORS THAT SENATOR MORTON is partial to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York are also denied. Actually, the senator is fond of both men. But he is described as being strictly neutral in any contest between the two.

It was President Eisenhower himself and retiring GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn who picked Morton for the spot.

The President told Senator Morton after a White House conference some weeks ago that he might be wanted for another job. So the announcement came as no surprise.

When Chairman Alcorn made the decision that he must retire for personal reasons he canvassed all possibilities and concluded that Morton was best suited. So Alcorn had no difficulty selling the President on his successor.

WHAT MAKES HIM so acceptable to the President is that on 155 roll calls during the 85th Congress, the Kentuckian supported the Eisenhower program 88 per cent of the time. On this score he tied Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, the new Republican floor leader. And nobody did better.

Senator Morton, who is 51, is tall, dark, photogenic and unusually quiet for a politician. As a freshman senator he has stayed out of the limelight, serving his apprenticeship on Post Office, Rules and Interstate Commerce committees. His attendance at Senate sessions is near tops.

He has spoken on the floor of the Senate frequently, but usually in brief and always to the point on pending legislation. He never sounds off or blows his top.

He runs an open-door office and secs practically everyone who comes along. He has never stood on his senatorial dignity nor thrown his weight around. He never rings three times to get special express service on Senate elevators.

HIS OFFICE IS ONE of the calmest and best organized in the Senate. He is rated a good executive. He makes quick decisions and he delegates authority well.

His staff and associates think he will be able to keep his job as a senator and run GOP headquarters at the same time, without strain. He is used to 8 a. m.-8 p. m. days.

He doesn't play golf. He is a baseball fan, and, like all Kentuckians, enjoys going to the races. When he was Louisville's congressman, 1947-1952, he used to play a lot of handball and he still works out in the House gym.

He doesn't play the Washington society circuit any more than necessary. In Washington the senator and Mrs. Morton have been living in a Massachusetts Avenue apartment. But they may move soon into a downtown hotel to be closer to the center of things and see more out-of-towners.

Mrs. Morton, the former Belle Clay Lyons, is directly related to Kentucky's great Sen. Henry Clay. The Mortons have two sons, Thruston Ballard Jr., 27, now married and living in Louisville and Clay Lyons, 23, a law student at University of Virginia.

Senator Morton describes himself as a middle-of-the-roader or, at the most, two degrees left of center. He claims friends among both progressive and conservative Republicans and among both factions of the Democratic party.

He has no enemies, and that is one of the factors which made him a logical choice for Republican national chairman. If he can rehabilitate all elements of today's badly beat-up generation of Republicans and collect some money for them, he's just what the Grand Old Party needs.

No Action at This Session Seen to End Labor Rackets

WASHINGTON — The American people may not realize it yet, but the Congress isn't going to do anything at this session that really will put an end to the racketeering in labor unions. This is already conceded privately by the leaders on both sides.

Actually, none of the proposed measures, even if passed, would eliminate the corruption that has been exposed at the hearings conducted by Sen. McClellan and his committee.

One of the most significant comments has just come from George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. In an interview in the current issue of "Dun's Review and Modern Industry," Mr. Meany pointed out that the unions alone cannot stop the abuses. Here is an excerpt:

"Q. Do you believe that labor legislation now pending in the Congress will provide adequate power to curb these abuses?

No Legal Responsibility

"A. Adequate power? Frankly, these abuses could not be stopped by the unions alone. The trade-union movement is trying to do what it can in this field. We think we have some moral responsibility to do this. But the AFL-CIO has no legal responsibility to curb corruption in union locals. We aren't a law-enforcement agency, and we don't have the power of subpoena. We couldn't possibly call a trade-union official before our council and say, 'We are suspicious; we don't like the way things are going.' Certainly we would not hesitate to take action where we had proof of wrongdoing or corruption. But we must have the proof, and we haven't got the machinery to go out and make these investigations.

"So, to answer your question, we don't feel that the requirements of the Kennedy-Ervin bill would eliminate corruption. We do think it would curb some of these people because they will have to report all their financial transactions. We think the Kennedy-Ervin bill is a step in the right direction, but the real problem of corruption is the failure of the law-enforcement authorities to act.

Points Out Racketeers

"The jukebox and coin-machine business points it up quite clearly. Here's one of our big industries, in the billion-dollar class, and it's honeycombed with gangsters and thugs operating with the connivance of greedy business men and with the cognizance of the law-enforcement authorities.

"It is quite obvious that the real answer to corruption whether in unions or anywhere else, is better law enforcement. Nobody runs to the American Bankers Association every time a cashier defaults or somebody on the inside robs a bank — they expect the local District Attorney to handle that. When companies engage in business frauds, nobody runs to the Chamber of Commerce or the National Association of Manufacturers and says, 'What are you going to do about law enforcement? No, they expect the local District Attorney to do it."

Can't Stop Hoffa

This correspondent read the foregoing quotation to Sen. McClellan and asked him for his opinion on it. The Arkansas Senator said:

"They say they do not have the power, and that is correct. They can't stop a Hoffa. That's why laws are needed. If they had the power, and would be diligent in exercising it, we probably wouldn't need additional laws, or so many laws. But they cannot deal with people like Hoffa, and it's imperative that we enact laws to at least curb — you never completely prevent — crime of any kind.

"Q. I wonder why the local District Attorneys haven't done more on this?

"A. I think the simple answer to that is politics. They control—just like they control an industry or control an operation. They have the political power where they control often the people in public office.

"Q. You mean the unions do?

"A. Sure. Or the union racketeers—that element in them. There's no question about that."

All this points up to the fact that labor unions are not at all analogous to trade associations or groups of businesses. The labor unions have a monopoly power. They get it out of existing laws and also out of the refusal of Congress to include labor unions as within the jurisdiction of anti-monopoly or anti-trust laws.

Labor unions have not only a monopoly power in being able to fix wages in an entire industry, but they have a monopoly power with respect to memberships. In some lines, they can prevent an applicant from getting a job. They can force a member out of a union through various devices and deprive him of his means of livelihood.

This type of potential coercion makes it difficult for any one who is aware of corruption to give testimony to the law-enforcement authorities for fear of punishment by union officials. No such power over the individual is held by any other trade organization or private association of any kind.

Obviously, it is the duty of states to preserve order and punish crimes within their borders. But when wrongdoing is of an interstate character—and virtually all the unions have been placed under interstate commerce by acts of Congress and by judicial decisions — it would appear that ultimately Federal legislation will be necessary. In fact, Congress enacted several years ago the first of its anti-racketeering statutes, and these have never been held to be an improper exercise of Federal authority.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, April 12—Twenty years ago the idea that "contempt" of any court or contempt of Congress could bring down upon the contemptuous person the frightful prison sentences which nowadays are ordinary would have shocked the nation. For actually "contempt" consists of rudeness in the courtroom, usually a man's refusal to take off his hat, to put away a cigar or to shut up when so ordered by the judge. Ten days in jail was an appropriate sentence. Contempt of Congress is no novelty and the guiding cases were tried long ago, but in the chamber of the offended house, not in the federal courts. But they were rare and the issue was the right of Congress to obtain information for guidance in its legislative work.

The development of "contempt" into a rubber hose of coercion to force witnesses to testify against themselves or against other persons who might retaliate by killing them or their relatives has been recent. It is a very dangerous menace to the freedom of citizens who thoughtlessly acclaim it as a means of wresting admissions from persons of bad repute (Bad repute too often consists only of newspaper notoriety, which is not always a true reflection of the subject's character.)

There has been an insidious change in our administration of "justice." "Contempt" has legislative authority in some cases, but in others, judges themselves, at their secret professional conclaves, hatch schemes to force innocent victims of their power to reveal extremely intimate personal and financial secrets which admittedly are not pertinent to the proceeding. In one flagrant case, a federal judge ordered a victim to bring into his court all his income tax records and personal and business records for 20 years from a distance of 3,000 miles, even conceding in advance that they probably would not be introduced in the trial. At great expense the victim complied and, sure enough, the opposition did not dare to demand that they be opened in court. The subpoena was sheer harassment of a litigant who had seriously embarrassed the judge's dearest personal and political friends by exposing perfidious conduct on their part. Had the victim failed to comply, however, the judge could have sent him to prison for years.

Mere reiteration of the cliche that this or that ill-favored individual is a gangster, a dope peddler or an extortionist now persuades much of the public and, unfortunately, much of the press, to assume that when justice is not nimble enough in her headwork and footwork to punish him for unproven wrongs, injustice serves him right. Herbert Hoover, in his memoirs, made the shocking admission that a group of "leaders" of Chicago civic life appealed to him to get Al Capone because their city had sunk to civic and moral bankruptcy. Instead of blasting them out of his office for their own failure as civic leaders, instead of admitting that the precious 18th amendment was the real cause of this awful state, President Hoover sent the Treasury after Capone to get him under the tax amendment. Capone never was charged with murder, but Hoover and millions of others were delighted when he got 11 years for failure to pay a debt of money. This was frankly revenge for his cleverness in getting away with murder.

The tax law was enacted to raise money for public expenses. This seeming digression is more apparent, than real, because this resort to the income tax terror has now put millions of Americans into abject terror of treasury examiners, district attorneys and a school of federal judges who came to maturity with a mentally wanton disregard for the preciousness of a human being's years on earth not only to himself but to his family.

The same brutality is now familiar in "contempt" cases.

Prisons were made to confine people for conduct positively injurious to the community. Failure to pay a debt whether to a person or a branch of the government is a negative offense, actually painless to society. The disgraceful grafting greed of Congress itself (and of judges too, in accepting, without adverse comment, extravagant raises in pay and pensions) is a positive financial and moral injury to society.

Failure of an individual to squeal on another also is negative.

In the English beginning, when torture was legitimate, the victim who had squealed on others could not be forced to testify against them in their trials. It was enough that the sheriffs and bailiffs had been given clues to proceed upon. Thereafter it was up to the law to convict offenders by its own ingenuity.

Nowadays in our country, the squealer can be sent to prison for contempt if, out of fear, he refuses to repeat his accusations in open court. And often the courts do send them up for long terms in sheer malice because they have frustrated the government's purpose to get revenge on an offender. The courts are employes of the government. Whose bread they eat, its song they sing.

Thoughtless, immature journalists in Washington have made silly sport of reporting that this or that witness "took the fifth amendment" a hundred times in a given session.

But in the first place, the defendant has that constitutional right. And after the first refusal, dozens more questions ensue which are mere whittlings off the same stick as tricky lawyers rephrase the same question or nag the same issue for the sole purpose of kicking up publicity for themselves and certain members of the committees.

The Chienlung line represents the greatest expansion of Chinese imperialism in the centuries of history of that country.

The Tibetan revolt is many months old. It has long been discussed among those closely interested in Chinese affairs, but very little was said about it in the American press. The reason is that it was not an officially reported rebellion until it was nearly over and the Lalai Lama was on his way to sanctuary in India—a sanctuary that could lead to a limited conflagration among the border states between Red China and neutral India. Really, there can no longer be any neutrality between Red China and India as Nehru undoubtedly now realizes.

Much that is either kept secret or is temporarily suppressed is confusing when it emerges to the surface. Spot news, a bulletin, a headline read on radio are of little value these days. Background exploriation is essential because everything is so different from what it seems to be. The headline reader is a very confused person because what he reads is a footnote to an event in motion, often in a tumultuous motion which even those who are directing its course do not understand.

For instance, Secretary of Defense McElroy is comforted that we have not lost all in Iraq and he draws the analogy that we have not lost all in Indonesia. Neither McElroy nor anyone else can, at this moment, foretell what has been lost in either Iraq or Indonesia. The confusion in those countries produces a cloudy X-ray plate.

The complications are numerous, but the habit of both the Pentagon and the State Department to suppress information which it is not generally advantageous to suppress, in no manner helps the citizen to understand what is going on and therefore he, the citizen, often surprised to discover his country closer to war than he imagined possible.

Tranquilizers Are Real Aid, But Should Not Be Taken Constantly

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Today's first question must be of interest to thousands, if not millions, of people.

Q—What are tranquilizing pills and what are they for? Are they harmful?—Mrs. R. S.

A—There are now a large number of preparations on the market known as tranquilizers. They carry a great many different names and they have several different kinds of chemical composition, uses and actions.

In general, they are designed to quiet the emotions and thus decrease "worry." They are therefore used in many different conditions, such as certain forms of high blood pressure, coronary artery disease, emotional disturbances of many different kinds, as an aid in the care of patients with certain forms of mental illness, and for many others.

They appear to be relatively harmless when taken in the prescribed doses, but I do not believe that tranquilizers (any more than any other drug) should be taken unless there is a definite need.)

Q—In a recent physical examination by physician found that my liver had dropped, but made no more comment. Is there anything further which should be done?—Mrs. K.

A—The diagnosis of dropped liver is made less frequently now than in the past. It implies that the liver is not firmly attached above and has dropped lower into the abdominal cavity. Without other signs or symptoms, I presume this can be ignored.

However, it is also possible that the liver has been enlarged rather than "dropped" and this may call for further investigations as to the cause.

Q—Is it wrong for a man to have at least a pint of wine on his way home from work each day and consume a quart on Sunday morning before breakfast? Although he doesn't become mean, he is fast losing the love and respect of his wife and children, and the family income is small.—Reader.

A—For selfish reasons, this man is depriving his family of things they need. This amount of regular drinking, together with the fact (which the letter adds) that he sneaks bottles into the house thinking people will not know it, suggests that he is already an alcoholic.

It would be wise if he stopped altogether, both for the sake of his family and his own health.

Q—Is rickets inherited? If the father had rickets when he was a baby would the children have it?—Mrs. H. R.

A—Rickets is not inherited. It is the result of a deficiency of vitamin D in the body during childhood. If a child receives sufficient amounts of this vitamin he will not acquire rickets even though his father had it.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Kentucky Senator Thruston Ballard Morton, slated for election as GOP national chairman at the Republican National Committee meeting, will take the job as an allout Eisenhower supporter. He has been one consistently since 1952.

The senator's politics are based on the belief that the President is still the most popular leader in the country. Moreover, he believes that the Republicans will have to run on the Eisenhower record in 1960.

Speculation that Senator Morton's selection to head the party was first approved by Vice President Nixon, now the most likely GOP nominee next year, is denied. Morton has supported Nixon on many occasions and filled in as presiding officer of the Senate when Nixon was away. But the vice president had nothing to do with clearing the appointment.

RUMORS THAT SENATOR MORTON is partial to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York are also denied. Actually, the senator is fond of both men. But he is described as being strictly neutral in any contest between the two.

It was President Eisenhower himself and retiring GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn who picked Morton for the spot.

The President told Senator Morton after a White House conference some weeks ago that he might be wanted for another job. So the announcement came as no surprise.

When Chairman Alcorn made the decision that he must retire for personal reasons he canvassed all possibilities and concluded that Morton was best suited. So Alcorn had no difficulty selling the President on his successor.

WHAT MAKES HIM so acceptable to the President is that on 155 roll calls during the 85th Congress, the Kentuckian supported the Eisenhower program 88 per cent of the time. On this score he tied Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, the new Republican floor leader. And nobody did better.

Senator Morton, who is 51, is tall, dark, photogenic and unusually quiet for a politician. As a freshman senator he has stayed out of the limelight, serving his apprenticeship on Post Office, Rules and Interstate Commerce committees. His attendance at Senate sessions is near tops.

He has spoken on the floor of the Senate frequently, but usually in brief and always to the point on pending legislation. He never sounds off or blows his top.

He runs an open-door office and sees practically everyone who comes along. He has never stood on his senatorial dignity nor thrown his weight around. He never rings three times to get special express service on Senate elevators.

HIS OFFICE IS ONE of the calmest and best organized in the Senate. He is rated a good executive. He makes quick decisions and he delegates authority well.

His staff and associates think he will be able to keep his job as a senator and run GOP headquarters at the same time, without strain. He is used to 8 a. m.-8 p. m. days.

He doesn't play golf. He is a baseball fan, and, like all Kentuckians, enjoys going to the races. When he was Louisville's congressman, 1947-1952, he used to play a lot of handball and he still works out in the House gym.

He doesn't play the Washington society circuit any more than necessary. In Washington the senator and Mrs. Morton have been living in a Massachusetts Avenue apartment. But they may move soon into a downtown hotel to be closer to the center of things and see more out-of-towners.

Mrs. Morton, the former Belle Clay Lyons, is directly related to Kentucky's great Sen. Henry Clay. The Mortons have two sons, Thruston Ballard Jr., 27, now married and living in Louisville and Clay Lyons, 23, a law student at University of Virginia.

Senator Morton describes himself as a middle-of-the-roader or, at the most, two degrees left of center. He claims friends among both progressive and conservative Republicans and among both factions of the Democratic party.

He has no enemies, and that is one of the factors which made him a logical choice for Republican national chairman. If he can rehabilitate all elements of today's badly beat-up generation of Republicans and collect some money for them, he's just what the Grand Old Party needs.

Today in National Affairs

No Action at This Session Seen to End Labor Rackets

WASHINGTON — The American people may not realize it yet, but the Congress isn't going to do anything at this session that really will put an end to the racketeering in labor unions. This is already conceded privately by the leaders on both sides.

Actually, none of the proposed measures, even if passed, would eliminate the corruption that has been exposed at the hearings conducted by Sen. McClellan and his committee.

One of the most significant comments has just come from George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. In an interview in the current issue of "Dun's Review and Modern Industry," Mr. Meany pointed out that the unions alone cannot stop the abuses. Here is an excerpt:

"Q. Do you believe that labor legislation now pending in the Congress will provide adequate power to curb these abuses?

No Legal Responsibility

"A. Adequate power? Frankly, these abuses could not be stopped by the unions alone. The trade-union movement is trying to do what it can in this field. We think we have some moral responsibility to do this. But the AFL-CIO has no legal responsibility to curb corruption in union locals. We aren't a law-enforcement agency, and we don't have the power of subpoena. We couldn't possibly call a trade-union official before our council and say, 'We are suspicious; we don't like the way things are going.' Certainly we would not hesitate to take action where we had proof of wrongdoing or corruption. But we must have the proof, and we haven't got the machinery to go out and make these investigations.

"So, to answer your question, we don't feel that the requirements of the Kennedy-Ervin bill would eliminate corruption. We do think it would curb some of these people because they will have to report all their financial transactions. We think the Kennedy-Ervin bill is a step in the right direction, but the real problem of corruption is the failure of the law-enforcement authorities to act.

Points Out Racketeers

"The jukebox and coin-machine business points it up quite clearly. Here's one of our big industries, in the billion-dollar class, and it's honeycombed with gangsters and thugs operating with the connivance of greedy business men and with the cognizance of the law-enforcement authorities.

"It is quite obvious that the real answer to corruption whether in unions or anywhere else, is better law enforcement. Nobody runs to the American Bankers Association every time a cashier defaults or somebody on the inside robs a bank — they expect the local District Attorney to handle that. When companies engage in business frauds, nobody runs to the Chamber of Commerce or the National Association of Manufacturers and says, 'What are you going to do about law enforcement? No, they expect the local District Attorney to do it."

Can't Stop Hoffa

This correspondent read the foregoing quotation to Sen. McClellan and asked him for his opinion on it. The Arkansas Senator said:

"They say they do not have the power, and that is correct. They can't stop a Hoffa. That's why laws are needed. If they had the power, and would be diligent in exercising it, we probably wouldn't need additional laws, or so many laws. But they cannot deal with people like Hoffa, and it's imperative that we enact laws to at least curb — you never completely prevent — crime of any kind.

"Q. I wonder why the local District Attorneys haven't done more on this?

"A. I think the simple answer to that is politics. They control—just like they control an industry or control an operation. They have the political power where they control often the people in public office.

"Q. You mean the unions do?

"A. Sure. Or the union racketeers—that element in them. There's no question about that."

All this points up to the fact that labor unions are not at all analogous to trade associations or groups of businesses. The labor unions have a monopoly power. They get it out of existing laws and also out of the refusal of Congress to include labor unions as within the jurisdiction of anti-monopoly or anti-trust laws.

Labor unions have not only a monopoly power in being able to fix wages in an entire industry, but they have a monopoly power with respect to memberships. In some lines, they can prevent an applicant from getting a job. They can force a member out of a union through various devices and deprive him of his means of livelihood.

This type of potential coercion makes it difficult for any one who is aware of corruption to give testimony to the law-enforcement authorities for fear of punishment by union officials. No such power over the individual is held by any other trade organization or private association of any kind.

Obviously, it is the duty of states to preserve order and punish crimes within their borders. But when wrongdoing is of an interstate character—and virtually all the unions have been placed under interstate commerce by acts of Congress and by judicial decisions — it would appear that ultimately Federal legislation will be necessary. In fact, Congress enacted several years ago the first of its anti-racketeering statutes, and these have never been held to be an improper exercise of Federal authority.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, April 12—Twenty years ago the idea that "contempt" of any court or contempt of Congress could bring down upon the contemptuous person the frightful prison sentences which nowadays are ordinary would have shocked the nation. For actually "contempt" consists of rudeness in the courtroom, usually a man's refusal to take off his hat, to put away a cigar or to shut up when so ordered by the judge. Ten days in jail was an appropriate sentence. Contempt of Congress is no novelty and the guiding cases were tried long ago, but in the chamber of the offended house, not in the federal courts. But they were rare and the issue was the right of Congress to obtain information for guidance in its legislative work.

The development of "contempt" into a rubber hose of coercion to force witnesses to testify against themselves or against other persons who might retaliate by killing them or their relatives has been recent. It is a very dangerous menace to the freedom of citizens who thoughtlessly acclaim it as a means of wresting admissions from persons of bad repute (Bad repute too often consists only of newspaper notoriety, which is not always a true reflection of the subject's character.)

There has been an insidious change in our administration of "justice." "Contempt" has legislative authority in some cases, but in others, judges themselves, at their secret professional conclaves, hatch schemes to force innocent victims of their power to reveal extremely intimate personal and financial secrets which admittedly are not pertinent to the proceeding. In one flagrant case, a federal judge ordered a victim to bring into his court all his income tax records and personal and business records for 20 years from a distance of 3,000 miles, even conceding in advance that they probably would not be introduced in the trial. At great expense the victim complied and, sure enough, the opposition did not dare to demand that they be opened in court. The subpoena was sheer harassment of a litigant who had seriously embarrassed the judge's dearest personal and political friends by exposing perfidious conduct on their part. Had the victim failed to comply, however, the judge could have sent him to prison for years.

Mere reiteration of the cliche that this or that ill-favored individual is a gangster, a dope peddler or an extortionist now persuades much of the public and, unfortunately, much of the press, to assume that when justice is not nimble enough in her headwork and footwork to punish him for unproven wrongs, injustice serves him right. Herbert Hoover, in his memoirs, made the shocking admission that a group of "leaders" of Chicago civic life appealed to him to get Al Capone because their city had sunk to civic and moral bankruptcy. Instead of blasting them out of his office for their own failure as civic leaders, instead of admitting that the precious 18th amendment was the real cause of this awful state, President Hoover sent the Treasury after Capone to get him under the tax amendment. Capone never was charged with murder, but Hoover and millions of others were delighted when he got 11 years for failure to pay a debt of money. This was frankly revenge for his cleverness in getting away with murder.

The tax law was enacted to raise money for public expenses. This seeming digression is more apparent, than real, because this resort to the income tax terror has now put millions of Americans into abject terror of treasury examiners, district attorneys and a school of federal judges who came to maturity with a mentally wanton disregard for the preciousness of a human being's years on earth not only to himself but to his family.

The same brutality is now familiar in "contempt" cases.

Prisons were made to confine people for conduct positively injurious to the community. Failure to pay a debt whether to a person or a branch of the government is a negative offense, actually painless to society. The disgraceful grafting greed of Congress itself (and of judges too, in accepting, without adverse comment, extravagant raises in pay and pensions) is a positive financial and moral injury to society.

Failure of an individual to squeal on another also is negative.

In the English beginning, when torture was legitimate, the victim who had squealed on others could not be forced to testify against them in their trials. It was enough that the sheriffs and bailiffs had been given clues to proceed upon. Thereafter it was up to the law to convict offenders by its own ingenuity.

Nowadays in our country, the squealer can be sent to prison for contempt if, out of fear, he refuses to repeat his accusations in open court. And often the courts do send them up for long terms in sheer malice because they have frustrated the government's purpose to get revenge on an offender. The courts are employes of the government. Whose bread they eat, its song they sing.

Thoughtless, immature journalists in Washington have made silly sport of reporting that this or that witness "took the fifth amendment" a hundred times in a given session.

But in the first place, the defendant has that constitutional right. And after the first refusal, dozens more questions ensue which are mere whittlings off the same stick as tricky lawyers rephrase the same question or nag the same issue for the sole purpose of kicking up publicity for themselves and certain members of the committees.

Kline to Address Parent Group of Hurley School 4

The Parent Association of Hurley School No. 4 will hold a meeting Thursday, April 16, at 8 p. m., at the school at which time Dr. David Kline, a member of the board of education of the Greater Kingston Area district, will be the speaker.

Information concerning the Kingston school consolidation program will be the topic of Mr. Kline's talk. He will discuss the bond issue, the proposed expansion program to be carried out if the bond issue is carried at the May 5 referendum. How the bond issue of $5,980,000 will affect school taxes and how taxes will be affected if the alternate $4,500,000 plan is decided upon, will be discussed.

Anyone in the area is invited to attend the meeting.

Parents of children in the Lucas Avenue Extension School District No. 3 and parents of children in the area along Route 209 from the Kingston city line to Hurley are specially invited. Attendance of these people is especially urged since on completion of the proposed building plan, these children will be placed in the Hurley school, according to present plans.

General information pamphlets concerning the entire consolidated area and a supplementary pamphlet concerning the Hurley school district will be made available to those in attendance at this meeting.

Immediately following the talk and the question period the club will hold a "pound auction." Those in attendance are asked to wrap a pound of anything and bring it along for the auction. The proceeds of the auction will be used to help the club raise money for its budget.

Peter A. Caprotti, 40, of 116 Madison Avenue, pleaded guilty to passing a red traffic light. He was fined $5. William Moran, 19, of Accord, was fined $5 after he pleaded guilty to passing a boulevard stop sign.

Judge Klein adjourned until April 20 the case of Lawrence R. McCauley, of 296 Brigham Street, East Kingston, who was accused by police of speeding and passing a red traffic light.

Visit From

the Big Four foreign ministers conference on Germany. This is to open in Geneva May 11.

"I feel pretty good," Dulles told newsmen at the airport as he walked slowly down the ramp from the President's plane.

He even managed to joke about the weather, a windy mixture of sleet and rain. In appearance, however, Dulles was a far cry from the rugged 185-pound New Yorker who broke all travel records during his six years as secretary of state.

His complexion was ashen. His gray topcoat hung loosely on his frame. Newsmen who have covered his activities for years estimated he had lost 15 to 20 pounds.

One of his top aides said Dulles has not yet submitted a resignation. But, this official thought, some sort of "clarifying announcement" might be issued within a few days.

Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter, who joined Vice President Richard M. Nixon in meeting Dulles at the airport, was reported to be Eisenhower's choice as Dulles' successor if Dulles quits.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced slightly in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks rose from fractions to about a point. An assortment of small losses gave the rise an irregular pattern.

Bigger moves to the plus or minus side were made by a few of the more speculative stocks.

Pan American World Airways opened a half hour late under a buying rush, rising 1⅜ to 33⅞ on a big block of 20,000 shares.

Wheeling steel added more than a point.

Anaconda was down about a point and International Nickel a fraction. Kennecott and Phelps Dodge eased.

American Motors was off close to a point and General Motors was easy. Ford picked up a fractional gain.

Moderate gainers included U.S. Steel, American Telephone, Radio Corp., Raytheon, General Tire, Texas Co., Southern Pacific, Pfizer, American Tobacco and Lorillard.

U.S. government bonds were firm in slow dealings.

4 Saugerties Youths Hurt In Car Mishap

Anthony Francello, 18, Saugerties, one of four young men injured in an automobile accident early Sunday morning at Veteran, was reported in "fair" condition at Benedictine Hospital today. He was the driver of an automobile which left Route 212 at 12:05 a. m. Sunday while rounding a curve, struck an abandoned car along the road and hit the barn on the James Igoe property.

Alfred Comito, 16, of Barclay Heights, Saugerties, was reported in "good" condition at Kingston Hospital. He suffered a fractured left shoulder and back injury.

Others injured were:

Gerald Curley, 235 Partition Street, Saugerties, face and head injuries. Treated at Kingston Hospital and released.

John Naccarato, 217 Partition Street, Saugerties, shock. Treated at Kingston Hospital and released.

Car Overturned

After the car left the road and struck the wreckage of an old car on the Igoe property, it hit the barn and overturned. At first it was believed the young men would have to be extricated from the car. Centerville Fire Co. was summoned for assistance. Under the direction of Chief Cornelius Mower, the firemen responded, but the men were released from the car while the firemen stood by in case of fire from gas and oil spilled on the road. Later the gas was washed from the roadway by the firemen.

Trooper George Gaine of the Kingston station investigated and reported the car had apparently gone out of control on the curve.

The accident happened about 12:05 a. m. Sunday and the Centerville firemen were at the scene by 12:15 o'clock. There was no fire.

New Paltz Boy Riding Bicycle Struck by Car

Victor Wazewski, 9, of New Paltz was injured Sunday afternoon while riding a bicycle on Route 299 near the Thruway entrance when he was struck by a car operated by Beverly O'Neil, 22, of Springton Road, New Paltz. His condition at Kingston Hospital today was reported as "fair."

Trooper P. M. Luongo and Sergeant Walsh of the New Paltz police department investigated the accident which happened about 3 p. m. Sunday as the boy was riding his bicycle east of Route 299 about 100 feet from the Thruway entrance at New Paltz. He suffered lacerations of the left leg, abrasions and scalp injuries and was brought to the Kingston Hospital by ambulance.

State police reported the boy was riding east as the car approached from the opposite direction and apparently became confused by traffic. The O'Neill car was pulled to the right as far as possible, state police reported, but was unable to avoid the boy.

Start to Install New $10,500 Organ In W. Camp Church

Another phase in the $30,000 remodeling program of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp got underway last week with the removal of the old organ in preparation for installation of the new $10,500 instrument.

Robert S. Rowland, organ builder of Ossining, who was awarded the contract in January, will be in charge of the installation.

The old organ was also installed by Mr. Rowland in 1926 with the help of two members of the congregation, Nelson Burhans of Evesport, present lay president, and Addison Magee, now a resident of Stamford, N. Y. The old organ was a memorial gift by Mr. and Mrs. Joel Emerick.

The remodeling program is in preparation for the 250th anniversary celebration of the historic church next year. The West Camp church was founded by the Palatines in 1710.

An earlier phase of the remodeling was the installation of a new heating system in the church in the spring of 1957.

The congregation's finance campaign for the remodeling program suffered a temporary set back last week by the sudden death of Dr. Henry J. Arnold, a councilman of the church and fund drive director.

The Ossining organ builder after several years of apprenticeship, built his first organ at St. Johnsville in 1921. Mr. Rowland's first job in this area was to service the Katsbaan Reformed Church organ in 1925. Since that time he has worked upon or rebuilt organs in Catskill, Kingston, and in the Saugerties Reformed Church.

His artistry is widely known throughout the state particularly in the Mohawk and Hudson Valleys.

The cast will include Barbara Lang, Hilda Martin, Janet Schlenker, Irene Martin, Susan Coons, Donald Smith, William Knaust and Shirley Winchell.

An exotic supper will be served early in the evening at a small charge including shish-kebab.

Besides the play, entertainment will include selections by the junior choir, a choral reading, games, recording program by Joyce Patterson, and a film strip on Exiles in the Holy Land. Mrs. Janice Dengler will head the guided tours of the bazaar.

Members and friends of the congregation are invited to come and leave at any time during the evening.

Arrest Catskill Man in Incident Of Meter Crash

George Thorn, about 30, of Catskill, was arrested Saturday morning by Saugerties police for involvement in an incident in which a Windemere man's car was found early Friday crushed against a parking meter on Main Street.

He was released in $50 bail by Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers Saturday and will appear for araignment before Village Police Justice G. Thomas Rea this evening at 5 o'clock. Thorn was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and reckless driving.

Patrolman Gordon Keeley, who made the arrest, said according to the information Thorn was driving his car with Nicholas Maurezio of Cementon as a passenger. The Thorn car pushed a 1954 sedan owned by James Shier of Windemere while the vehicle was parked unattended in front of the Exchange Hotel on Main Street. The Shier car was found by police about 2 a. m. Friday a short distance away smashed against a parking meter in front of the Casino Grill on Main Street.

There was some damage to the front end of the Shier car. The parking meter was bent over and the force of the crash lifted the sidewalk around the base of the meter, Saugerties police reported. Patrolmen Keeley and Jack Washburn investigated the incident early Friday morning.

Once Palentown School Property Deeded to Town

A quit claim deed for the former Palentown school property was received by the town board of the Town of Rochester at the April meeting. The deed was from Mrs. Barbara Blau giving up revision rights of a decedent of owner at the time the property was acquired for school purposes to be effective as long as the property was town owned and used for public purposes.

This property was conveyed to the board of education following the forming of the Rondout Valley Centralized School District and there was no longer need of it for school purposes

All members of the town board were present except Councilman Ross Coddington who was ill.

After approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, March reports were given. There was a balance of $2,867.99 in the general fund and $18,997.90 in the highway fund. Collector LeRoy C. Kelder reported fees paid to the supervisor amounted to $58.57. Town Clerk Elsie E. Rider Smith reported receipts of $148.65. Claims against the general fund amounting to $230.57 were approved.

Among the communications received and read was the notice of the public hearing on the discontinuance of the Eagle Bus line which will be held at the court house, Kingston, on Thursday, April 16, at 2 p. m.

Bids for purchase of fuel oil for heating the town garage, as advertised, and also bids for cold patch and gravel were reviewed by the town board.

Arrangements were made for the town board to visit areas where complaints had been received.

Discussions were held on various subjects, including repairs of machinery and equipment, replacement of tracks on the Caterpillar, repairs to the Walter truck, which included complete rear end, differential and new tires. The problem of extensive repairs and the expense involved to operate the old roller, approximately 24 years old, was also discussed by the board members. Superintendent Richard Gray presented a letter requesting favorable consideration by the board for purchase of a road roller.

Would Suspend

after five futile months of talking.

Since the conference first convened Oct. 31, the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union have agreed on seven articles of a draft treaty. But there has been no progress toward a solution to the East-West squabble on manning control posts and inspection teams, and the voting procedures to be followed by the control commission have remained in dispute.

The Soviets clearly still want a veto over any inspection and control machinery established to enforce a test ban.

Aim of Plan

The United States and Britain insist on a control system set up on a truly international basis, organized to operate with a minimum of government interference.

Officials in Washington said that if underground and high altitude tests were exempted from the ban, adequate inspection measures might be easier to agree on. Prohibition of lower-level blasts could be more readily enforced, they sai' because the fallout produced in such tests makes them much more easily detectable.

The new Soviet statement, broadcast by Moscow radio, again accused the United States and Britain of delaying the work of the conference.

Planes, a helicopter and dogs joined the search south of Grand Junction, Colo., for frail Sammy Jennings, 7.

The 55-pound first-grader strayed from a family picnic Saturday. He has sight in only one eye, is in poor health and has a speech impediment.

Searchers found him 18 hours later atop a pinnacle of rock in the remote Unaweep Canyon area.

"I prayed to Jesus all night long," the boy murmured. "I was too scared to go to sleep, and I got awful hungry. I just prayed and prayed."

Canvass of New W. Hurley School District Homes

A census of new homes in the West Hurley school district to establish a definite record of anticipated future enrollment at the West Hurley Elementary School, will be continued tomorrow, according to Donald Baines, principal of the school.

Mr. Baines said today that he and three women residents of the area will make a house-to-house canvass of new homes in the new Hurley Ridge development Tuesday and they also plan to visit other new homes in the school district.

The school official stated that there are at least 35 new families who have moved into the district since a census was conducted last August. He said that it is understood at least 59 new homes will be built in the area, thus increasing the schol population.

The purpose of the census is to ascertain the increase in enrollment that might be expected at the opening of the next school year and also the anticipated increase in enrollment in future years.

On completion of the census, Mr. Baines said, he will project the anticipated enrollment on record covering a period of at least five years. The school principal stated that residents in the West Hurley Elementary School area, are trying to include in the budget an appropriation to add two additional classrooms to the present school.

Kline to Address Parent Group of Hurley School 4

The Parent Association of Hurley School No. 4 will hold a meeting Thursday, April 16, at 8 p. m., at the school at which time Dr. David Kline, a member of the board of education of the Greater Kingston Area district, will be the speaker.

Information concerning the Kingston school consolidation program will be the topic of Mr. Kline's talk. He will discuss the bond issue, the proposed expansion program to be carried out if the bond issue is carried at the May 5 referendum. How the bond issue of $5,980,000 will affect school taxes and how taxes will be affected if the alternate $4,500,000 plan is decided upon, will be discussed.

Anyone in the area is invited to attend the meeting.

Parents of children in the Lucas Avenue Extension School District No. 3 and parents of children in the area along Route 209 from the Kingston city line to Hurley are specially invited. Attendance of these people is especially urged since on completion of the proposed building plan, these children will be placed in the Hurley school, according to present plans.

General information pamphlets concerning the entire consolidated area and a supplementary pamphlet concerning the Hurley school district will be made available to those in attendance at this meeting.

Immediately following the talk and the question period the club will hold a "pound auction." Those in attendance are asked to wrap a pound of anything and bring it along for the auction. The proceeds of the auction will be used to help the club raise money for its budget.

Visit From

the Big Four foreign ministers conference on Germany. This is to open in Geneva May 11.

"I feel pretty good," Dulles told newsmen at the airport as he walked slowly down the ramp from the President's plane.

He even managed to joke about the weather, a windy mixture of sleet and rain. In appearance, however, Dulles was a far cry from the rugged 185-pound New Yorker who broke all travel records during his six years as secretary of state.

His complexion was ashen. His gray topcoat hung loosely on his frame. Newsmen who have covered his activities for years estimated he had lost 15 to 20 pounds.

One of his top aides said Dulles has not yet submitted a resignation. But, this official thought, some sort of "clarifying announcement" might be issued within a few days.

Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter, who joined Vice President Richard M. Nixon in meeting Dulles at the airport, was reported to be Eisenhower's choice as Dulles' successor if Dulles quits.

4 Saugerties Youths Hurt In Car Mishap

Anthony Francello, 18, Saugerties, one of four young men injured in an automobile accident early Sunday morning at Veteran, was reported in "fair" condition at Benedictine Hospital today. He was the driver of an automobile which left Route 212 at 12:05 a. m. Sunday while rounding a curve, struck an abandoned car along the road and hit the barn on the James Igoe property.

Alfred Comito, 16, of Barclay Heights, Saugerties, was reported in "good" condition at Kingston Hospital. He suffered a fractured left shoulder and back injury.

Others injured were:

John Naccarato, 217 Partition Street, Saugerties, shock. Treated at Kingston Hospital and released.

Car Overturned

After the car left the road and struck the wreckage of an old car on the Igoe property, it hit the barn and overturned. At first it was believed the young men would have to be extricated from the car. Centerville Fire Co. was summoned for assistance. Under the direction of Chief Cornelius Mower, the firemen responded, but the men were released from the car while the firemen stood by in case of fire from gas and oil spilled on the road. Later the gas was washed from the roadway by the firemen.

Trooper George Gaine of the Kingston station investigated and reported the car had apparently gone out of control on the curve.

The accident happened about 12:05 a. m. Sunday and the Centerville firemen were at the scene by 12:15 o'clock. There was no fire.

He suffered lacerations of the left leg, abrasions and scalp injuries and was brought to the Kingston Hospital by ambulance.

State police reported the boy was riding east as the car approached from the opposite direction and apparently became confused by traffic. The O'Neill car was pulled to the right as far as possible, state police reported, but was unable to avoid the boy.

Start to Install New $10,500 Organ In W. Camp Church

Another phase in the $30,000 remodeling program of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp got underway last week with the removal of the old organ in preparation for installation of the new $10,500 instrument.

Robert S. Rowland, organ builder of Ossining, who was awarded the contract in January, will be in charge of the installation.

The old organ was also installed by Mr. Rowland in 1926 with the help of two members of the congregation, Nelson Burhans of Evesport, present lay president, and Addison Magee, now a resident of Stamford, N. Y. The old organ was a memorial gift by Mr. and Mrs. Joel Emerick.

The remodeling program is in preparation for the 250th anniversary celebration of the historic church next year. The West Camp church was founded by the Palatines in 1710.

An earlier phase of the remodeling was the installation of a new heating system in the church in the spring of 1957.

The congregation's finance campaign for the remodeling program suffered a temporary set back last week by the sudden death of Dr. Henry J. Arnold, a councilman of the church and fund drive director.

The Ossining organ builder after several years of apprenticeship, built his first organ at St. Johnsville in 1921. Mr. Rowland's first job in this area was to service the Katsbaan Reformed Church organ in 1925. Since that time he has worked upon or rebuilt organs in Catskill, Kingston, and in the Saugerties Reformed Church.

His artistry is widely known throughout the state particularly in the Mohawk and Hudson Valleys.

Arrest Catskill Man in Incident Of Meter Crash

George Thorn, about 30, of Catskill, was arrested Saturday morning by Saugerties police for involvement in an incident in which a Windemere man's car was found early Friday crushed against a parking meter on Main Street.

He was released in $50 bail by Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers Saturday and will appear for araignment before Village Police Justice G. Thomas Rea this evening at 5 o'clock. Thorn was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and reckless driving.

Patrolman Gordon Keeley, who made the arrest, said according to the information Thorn was driving his car with Nicholas Maurezio of Cementon as a passenger. The Thorn car pushed a 1954 sedan owned by James Shier of Windemere while the vehicle was parked unattended in front of the Exchange Hotel on Main Street. The Shier car was found by police about 2 a. m. Friday a short distance away smashed against a parking meter in front of the Casino Grill on Main Street.

There was some damage to the front end of the Shier car. The parking meter was bent over and the force of the crash lifted the sidewalk around the base of the meter, Saugerties police reported. Patrolmen Keeley and Jack Washburn investigated the incident early Friday morning.

Once Palentown School Property Deeded to Town

A quit claim deed for the former Palentown school property was received by the town board of the Town of Rochester at the April meeting. The deed was from Mrs. Barbara Blau giving up revision rights of a decedent of owner at the time the property was acquired for school purposes to be effective as long as the property was town owned and used for public purposes.

This property was conveyed to the board of education following the forming of the Rondout Valley Centralized School District and there was no longer need of it for school purposes

All members of the town board were present except Councilman Ross Coddington who was ill.

After approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, March reports were given. There was a balance of $2,867.99 in the general fund and $18,997.90 in the highway fund. Collector LeRoy C. Kelder reported fees paid to the supervisor amounted to $58.57. Town Clerk Elsie E. Rider Smith reported receipts of $148.65. Claims against the general fund amounting to $230.57 were approved.

Among the communications received and read was the notice of the public hearing on the discontinuance of the Eagle Bus line which will be held at the court house, Kingston, on Thursday, April 16, at 2 p. m.

Bids for purchase of fuel oil for heating the town garage, as advertised, and also bids for cold patch and gravel were reviewed by the town board.

Arrangements were made for the town board to visit areas where complaints had been received.

Discussions were held on various subjects, including repairs of machinery and equipment, replacement of tracks on the Caterpillar, repairs to the Walter truck, which included complete rear end, differential and new tires. The problem of extensive repairs and the expense involved to operate the old roller, approximately 24 years old, was also discussed by the board members. Superintendent Richard Gray presented a letter requesting favorable consideration by the board for purchase of a road roller.

Would Suspend

after five futile months of talking.

Since the conference first convened Oct. 31, the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union have agreed on seven articles of a draft treaty. But there has been no progress toward a solution to the East-West squabble on manning control posts and inspection teams, and the voting procedures to be followed by the control commission have remained in dispute.

The Soviets clearly still want a veto over any inspection and control machinery established to enforce a test ban.

Aim of Plan

The United States and Britain insist on a control system set up on a truly international basis, organized to operate with a minimum of government interference.

Officials in Washington said that if underground and high altitude tests were exempted from the ban, adequate inspection measures might be easier to agree on. Prohibition of lower-level blasts could be more readily enforced, they sai' because the fallout produced in such tests makes them much more easily detectable.

The new Soviet statement, broadcast by Moscow radio, again accused the United States and Britain of delaying the work of the conference.

Canvass of New W. Hurley School District Homes

A census of new homes in the West Hurley school district to establish a definite record of anticipated future enrollment at the West Hurley Elementary School, will be continued tomorrow, according to Donald Baines, principal of the school.

Mr. Baines said today that he and three women residents of the area will make a house-to-house canvass of new homes in the new Hurley Ridge development Tuesday and they also plan to visit other new homes in the school district.

The school official stated that there are at least 35 new families who have moved into the district since a census was conducted last August. He said that it is understood at least 59 new homes will be built in the area, thus increasing the schol population.

The purpose of the census is to ascertain the increase in enrollment that might be expected at the opening of the next school year and also the anticipated increase in enrollment in future years.

On completion of the census, Mr. Baines said, he will project the anticipated enrollment on record covering a period of at least five years. The school principal stated that residents in the West Hurley Elementary School area, are trying to include in the budget an appropriation to add two additional classrooms to the present school.

Post Office Contract Goes To Industrial Traffic, Inc.

The contract for the new Woodstock Post Office building has been awarded to Harris Gordon, president of the Industrial Traffic Associates, Inc., which has headquarters on the Glasco Turnpike.

Gordon said today the construction would start on or about August 1. The date was picked in order not to interfere with the heavy summer activities in Woodstock.

Gordon's firm will erect the modern, streamlined building and rent it to the U. S. Post Office Department. This is part of the Department's new policy of trying to have private capital invest in public building.

The 65-foot building will be erected on a plot of land 70 feet by 170 feet, purchased from Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons and Allan Dean Elwyn. The site was formerly known as the Glotzl property and is on Route 212.

The building will have an average width of 40 feet, being 47 feet wide at one end and tapering to 36 feet at the other end. It will have a large loading platform in the rear.

Colonial-Type Building

In announcing the letting of the bid, Postmaster Leon Carey said the new building will contain 2520 square feet, or 1170 square feet more than the present post office building on the Village Green. It will be a modern, fire-proof building of stuccoed block with a brick veneer front and designed in modern colonial style.

Besides a larger work room space, it will contain public and box lobbies, a locker room for employes, men's and women's rest rooms, mailing vestibule and a record and supply room. It will also have a private office for the postmaster. At the rear of the building will be a 12x30 foot loading platform and approximately 5,300 square feet of maneuvering area for trucks to load and unload mail.

Volume Increases

Postmaster Carey said the present quarters have been inadequate for some time because of the phenomenal growth of the town. In the last five years there has been a 45 per cent increase in volume at the Woodstock post office which currently has second class rating.

The local office is expected to receive first class rating within the next several months, following the institution of foot carrier and mounted carrier service.

The postmaster indicated no increase in the size of the work staff is anticipated at the present time. The advent of city delivery and mounted carrier and change in classification will alter the picture, he said.

A Time to Laugh

Officially, this is American Comedy Week. So, if you didn't laugh last week, please try to find something funny this week.

It has been said that laughter distinguishes men from animals. It does more than that. It helps him keep his balance, his sanity in a world that often seems remarkably unbalanced. Without laughter man finds it difficult to live with other men. Without laughter man finds it almost impossible to live with himself.

Laughter is wonderfully healthy. You know how good you feel after a hearty burst of laughter at a good joke. It not only hits your funny bone, but also your face and neck muscles, your chest, your abdomen. You rock in your chair, stamp your foot, and pound your fist. And when the spasm is over you're relaxed. Tensions, feelings that have been choked up inside you have been released.

We treasure them, the people who can make us laugh like that. They're worth every cent we pay them when they take us outside ourselves. They force our pent-up emotions to the surface and give us healthy relaxation.

The "belly laugh" is, of course, not the only healthy laughter our comedians give us. There is the inside kind that may not show at all, except perhaps as a mild chuckle or smile. Some comedians show us ourselves and the way we live is a new perspective. They make us laugh at ourselves, and sometimes it's a laugh with a little pain in it. But when we are made to see ourselves as just a little ridiculous, we're on our way toward examining the values by which we live.

So comedy shows the way to progress both in individuals and in nations. It was a book by the great comic writer Cervantes that pricked the balloon of pretentious nonsense of the Age of Chivalry. Perhaps a new Don Quixote will be found to help cure the sickness of the Atom Age.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Song-Dance for Harvey

NEW YORK (AP)—Laurence Harvey, British film star who recently toured the U. S. with the Old Vic Shakespearean company, may next appear on Broadway in a song-and-dance role. A musical based upon T. H. White's romance "The Once and Future King," is the show which may lure Harvey back to the singing stage. His last such stint was in 1945 in an army revue.

The Meanest Mother

By FRANK TRIPP

Haven't reported on the home front in a long time. Things domestic, other than taxes and inflation, have been happening. As a salute to a most welcome spring, I will bring you up to date.

Since you last heard, Nancy II and Pollyfi, who is really Mary II, have moved our three great grands into interesting rural homes. Their Nancy III and Kenny have mumps; husky Stewart is well.

We are knee deep in Marys and Nancys; have three of each, and a boat "Mary-Nan II," another "Nancy Fair." Steve has skiied himself into his second broken leg. Teddy has shrunk 30 pounds, right out of his clothes. Cokey is well. Do write soon.

Mary III left home again. She's a sly comedienne, equally adept at drama. By age seven, all of our offspring have struck out for themselves. Harriet one time got two blocks toward Hollywood, and Turk that close to the Canadian North Woods. Their mother, Nancy I, almost ran off with a circus, and Mary I with a dance band. She is thrice a grandmother now.

THIS TIME Mary III remembered some approaching Brownie Scout shindigs and postponed her vamoose until the next unbearable indignity. She unpacked and tossed her farewell note into a wastebasket. It read: "This is it. I hate you. You are the meanest mother I ever had. Love, Mary."

You've got to hand it to the kids. They never slam the door tight shut. Hope Khrushchev doesn't.

I WOULDN'T guess how many pecks of exotic seeds and bird vitamins Anna has fed to our feathered friends this tough winter. If she could teach them a mite of the cleanliness and decorum she has taught Cokey 'twould be swell. I question their gratitude.

In the heart of a compact residential area, our little oasis of elms, evergreens, shrubbery and rock garden is a city wildlife haven. We have birds galore, gray squirrel, wild rabbits, and frequent odors prove the proximity of those cute black and white "kittens" that carry their own fire extinguisher.

Pre Cokey, our Boston bull suffered a miserable week of fumigation. What could happen to an inquisitive wooley poodle we have not yet impressed upon Cokey. The marvel is where this wildlife lives, comes from and goes to. Anybody shy a few pet skunks and hungry rabbits?

OMNIPRESENT are the sparrows and the gabby grackles with their squeeky-pump serenade. More welcome daybreak arrivals are the bluejays. They spurn integration and insist upon eating alone. Democracy is not for the bluejay.

Squirrels cannot climb the feeder's metal standard. They breakfast on the mess that the untidy sparrows push off the feeding tray. Not for long.

A single bluejay arrives; he's the scout. He wings away and comes back with a pal. They rout the poaching gray squirrel pronto. The blue and the gray do not break bread together.

We have brilliant cardinals and robins have arrived. The scarlet tanager, gold finch and late canary sparrow will have to hurry, for the cafeteria is about to close until another winter.

SOON WE move to the lakeside. There live abundant saucy squirrel and ravenous rabbit; muskrat, woodchuck, chipmunk and mole; orioles, song sparrow, catbird, swallow, finch, kingfisher, crane, crow, owl, hawk, heron, gull, transient duck and geese (and a stork is hovering). Graceful deer and fawn and colorful pheasant, occasionally a wiley fox, desecrate Fanny's flower garden.

From adjacent forests will come the annual mountain lion scare. Sure to be "seen" will be old Seneca's venerable sea serpent; that has aged to some 50 feet in length; 20 feet on bathtub gin; only 10 since prohibition was repealed.

We have such interesting neighbors all year long. Not a gossip among them, but it takes a lot of doing to keep them in their place.

Policy good in any licensed hospital, convalescent or nursing home—anywhere in the world. Naturally your policy does not provide benefits for treatment in any place used primarily as a clinic, rest home or health resort. In relation to this, services provided or paid for by the United States Government or any state or county tuberculosis, or mental institutions, are not covered since such services are normally provided without cost.

There is no limit to the number of times you may collect benefits for each hospital confinement due to a different accident or sickness. If confined more than once for the same or related cause, within a 6-month period, any benefits not used during the first confinement may be used for the second; however, benefits for hospital "extras" are payable only while you are eligible for hospital room benefits. When confinements for the same or related causes are separated by 6 months or more, full benefits start over again.

Covers both illness and injuries except those caused by war or covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employer's Liability Laws; alcoholism or drug addiction.

NEW YORK (AP)—Laurence Harvey, British film star who recently toured the U. S. with the Old Vic Shakespearean company, may next appear on Broadway in a song-and-dance role. A musical based upon T. H. White's romance "The Once and Future King," is the show which may lure Harvey back to the singing stage. His last such stint was in 1945 in an army revue.

The Meanest Mother

By FRANK TRIPP

Haven't reported on the home front in a long time. Things domestic, other than taxes and inflation, have been happening. As a salute to a most welcome spring, I will bring you up to date.

Since you last heard, Nancy II and Pollyfi, who is really Mary II, have moved our three great grands into interesting rural homes. Their Nancy III and Kenny have mumps; husky Stewart is well.

We are knee deep in Marys and Nancys; have three of each, and a boat "Mary-Nan II," another "Nancy Fair." Steve has skiied himself into his second broken leg. Teddy has shrunk 30 pounds, right out of his clothes. Cokey is well. Do write soon.

Mary III left home again. She's a sly comedienne, equally adept at drama. By age seven, all of our offspring have struck out for themselves. Harriet one time got two blocks toward Hollywood, and Turk that close to the Canadian North Woods. Their mother, Nancy I, almost ran off with a circus, and Mary I with a dance band. She is thrice a grandmother now.

THIS TIME Mary III remembered some approaching Brownie Scout shindigs and postponed her vamoose until the next unbearable indignity. She unpacked and tossed her farewell note into a wastebasket. It read: "This is it. I hate you. You are the meanest mother I ever had. Love, Mary."

You've got to hand it to the kids. They never slam the door tight shut. Hope Khrushchev doesn't.

I WOULDN'T guess how many pecks of exotic seeds and bird vitamins Anna has fed to our feathered friends this tough winter. If she could teach them a mite of the cleanliness and decorum she has taught Cokey 'twould be swell. I question their gratitude.

In the heart of a compact residential area, our little oasis of elms, evergreens, shrubbery and rock garden is a city wildlife haven. We have birds galore, gray squirrel, wild rabbits, and frequent odors prove the proximity of those cute black and white "kittens" that carry their own fire extinguisher.

Pre Cokey, our Boston bull suffered a miserable week of fumigation. What could happen to an inquisitive wooley poodle we have not yet impressed upon Cokey. The marvel is where this wildlife lives, comes from and goes to. Anybody shy a few pet skunks and hungry rabbits?

OMNIPRESENT are the sparrows and the gabby grackles with their squeeky-pump serenade. More welcome daybreak arrivals are the bluejays. They spurn integration and insist upon eating alone. Democracy is not for the bluejay.

Squirrels cannot climb the feeder's metal standard. They breakfast on the mess that the untidy sparrows push off the feeding tray. Not for long.

A single bluejay arrives; he's the scout. He wings away and comes back with a pal. They rout the poaching gray squirrel pronto. The blue and the gray do not break bread together.

We have brilliant cardinals and robins have arrived. The scarlet tanager, gold finch and late canary sparrow will have to hurry, for the cafeteria is about to close until another winter.

SOON WE move to the lakeside. There live abundant saucy squirrel and ravenous rabbit; muskrat, woodchuck, chipmunk and mole; orioles, song sparrow, catbird, swallow, finch, kingfisher, crane, crow, owl, hawk, heron, gull, transient duck and geese (and a stork is hovering). Graceful deer and fawn and colorful pheasant, occasionally a wiley fox, desecrate Fanny's flower garden.

From adjacent forests will come the annual mountain lion scare. Sure to be "seen" will be old Seneca's venerable sea serpent; that has aged to some 50 feet in length; 20 feet on bathtub gin; only 10 since prohibition was repealed.

We have such interesting neighbors all year long. Not a gossip among them, but it takes a lot of doing to keep them in their place.

Politicos Declare Jersey Tax Plan Unconstitutional

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—It would be unconstitutional for New Jersey to levy a special income tax on out-of-state residents who work in New Jersey, say three political leaders.

The three are Gov. Robert B. Meyner, State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. (R-Warren), and Robert Morris, former chief counsel for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

They gave that estimate after Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) suggested such a tax to retaliate against New York, which taxes New Jerseyans employed there at a higher level than it does its own people.

Meyner appeared yesterday on a radio program in New York. He said Case's idea would be unconstitutional and added he favored a constitutional amendment that would restrict a state's income tax to its own residents.

Dumont said he doubted the constitutionality of a special tax imposed on a special group, such as this one.

The Case plan, said Morris, "is unjust and unsound and could be an opening wedge for a state income tax against all of us."

Meyner said he held little hope for the amendment he favors because 33 states tax workers who live outside their borders.

Realtor Week To Be Observed

The Ulster County Real Estate Board links arms this week with hundreds of other boards across the nation in launching observance of Realtor Week, April 12-18, Edward C. O'Connor, board president announced.

This special week, so proclaimed by scores of governors and mayors in many states and cities, is designed to inform the public of the lofty aims and high professional services of realtors, he said.

In many communities programs scheduled to tell about "Realtors—Those Pledged to an Established Code of Ethics," will be conducted.

"A realtor is a broker who is a member of the local real estate board and the National Association of Real Estate Boards," O'Connor explained. "Only by membership in these bodies may a broker use the term Realtor as his trademark."

O'Connor said realtors pledge themselves to observe NAREB's strict code of ethics, which is based upon the Golden Rule.

"The standards of this code are higher than those set forth in state license laws, and the local board is empowered to see to it that its members live up to its provisions. Those found skirting the code's terms face the loss of membership," Mr. O'Connor declared.

Man-Kiling Elephant Goes Back to Tulsa

HUGO, Okla. (AP) — Zoo officials will bring Dorothy, the once-doomed circus elephant, back alive to Tulsa this month.

Director Hugh Davis of Tulsa's Mohawk Zoo said the man-killing elephant will be taken from here to her new home April 22.

Davis said Dorothy will be used strictly for exhibition, "although she is an expert performer."

It was two faulty performances which caused her present owner, circus owner Jack Moore, to order her execution.

Moore purchased Dorothy from another circus after she performed a headstand on her trainer, crushing him to death.

He thought he could rehabilitate the elephant, but two weeks ago she repeated her stunt on another trainer. He was injured.

Moore set the execution date for Sunday. A storm of protest followed. So did Davis, who came to Hugo to find out if he could have Dorothy for the zoo. Moore agreed.

Davis said his elephant trainer "says she might straighten up and become a perfect lady."

But they'll take no chances.

Her first 60 days in Tulsa, Davis said, the elephant would be shackled inside the elephant building. With the completion of a moat around the building, she'll be unchained.

Driver Says Woman Walked Behind Car

Jeannette Turner, 77, of 177 Green Street, was injured Saturday night, when she was hit by an automobile in Wall Street.

Robert F. Schwenk, 31, of 151 Clifton Avenue, told police his car was parked and as he started to back the vehicle the pedestrian stepped from the curb in the path of the automobile.

Schwenk said the car hit the woman and knocked her to the pavement. She was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Schwenk and treated for abrasions of the left knee. Later she was released from the hospital.

National Corps Enters April 19 Competition Here

The entry of National Drum and Fife Corps of Newark, N. J. in the Hudson Valley Drum Corps competition April 19, was announced today.

This corps was organized in 1881 and is now one of the oldest units in New Jersey. A precedent of long standing was broken in 1951 when the corps decided to accept female members. Other recent changes have been the addition of glockenspiels and a color guard.

The Nationals have won many awards through the years at competitions in several eastern states and will be among some 25 crack drum corps from New York, New Jersey and New England at the Municipal Auditorium competion.

Wrote March

The "Pomp and Circumstance" march was written in 1902 by Sir Edward Elgar and is played in England during great and solemn occasions, such as the inauguration of a king or queen.

Politicos Declare Jersey Tax Plan Unconstitutional

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—It would be unconstitutional for New Jersey to levy a special income tax on out-of-state residents who work in New Jersey, say three political leaders.

The three are Gov. Robert B. Meyner, State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. (R-Warren), and Robert Morris, former chief counsel for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

They gave that estimate after Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) suggested such a tax to retaliate against New York, which taxes New Jerseyans employed there at a higher level than it does its own people.

Meyner appeared yesterday on a radio program in New York. He said Case's idea would be unconstitutional and added he favored a constitutional amendment that would restrict a state's income tax to its own residents.

Dumont said he doubted the constitutionality of a special tax imposed on a special group, such as this one.

The Case plan, said Morris, "is unjust and unsound and could be an opening wedge for a state income tax against all of us."

Meyner said he held little hope for the amendment he favors because 33 states tax workers who live outside their borders.

Realtor Week To Be Observed

The Ulster County Real Estate Board links arms this week with hundreds of other boards across the nation in launching observance of Realtor Week, April 12-18, Edward C. O'Connor, board president announced.

This special week, so proclaimed by scores of governors and mayors in many states and cities, is designed to inform the public of the lofty aims and high professional services of realtors, he said.

In many communities programs scheduled to tell about "Realtors—Those Pledged to an Established Code of Ethics," will be conducted.

"A realtor is a broker who is a member of the local real estate board and the National Association of Real Estate Boards," O'Connor explained. "Only by membership in these bodies may a broker use the term Realtor as his trademark."

O'Connor said realtors pledge themselves to observe NAREB's strict code of ethics, which is based upon the Golden Rule.

"The standards of this code are higher than those set forth in state license laws, and the local board is empowered to see to it that its members live up to its provisions. Those found skirting the code's terms face the loss of membership," Mr. O'Connor declared.

Man-Kiling Elephant Goes Back to Tulsa

HUGO, Okla. (AP) — Zoo officials will bring Dorothy, the once-doomed circus elephant, back alive to Tulsa this month.

Director Hugh Davis of Tulsa's Mohawk Zoo said the man-killing elephant will be taken from here to her new home April 22.

Davis said Dorothy will be used strictly for exhibition, "although she is an expert performer."

It was two faulty performances which caused her present owner, circus owner Jack Moore, to order her execution.

Moore purchased Dorothy from another circus after she performed a headstand on her trainer, crushing him to death.

He thought he could rehabilitate the elephant, but two weeks ago she repeated her stunt on another trainer. He was injured.

Moore set the execution date for Sunday. A storm of protest followed. So did Davis, who came to Hugo to find out if he could have Dorothy for the zoo. Moore agreed.

Davis said his elephant trainer "says she might straighten up and become a perfect lady."

But they'll take no chances.

Her first 60 days in Tulsa, Davis said, the elephant would be shackled inside the elephant building. With the completion of a moat around the building, she'll be unchained.

N. Y. Senators To Make Office Payrolls Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's two senators will make their office payrolls public "very shortly."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating issued a statement Sunday in behalf of Sen. Jacob K. Javits and himself.

"Both of us hope the Senate as a whole will approve a policy of disclosure, but if not we shall act on our own," Keating said.

The question of public disclosure of office payrolls is expected to come before the Senate Republican Policy Committee tomorrow.

Unlike the House, senators' office payrolls are not public record. Javits and Keating, both Republicans, declined to disclose their office pay scales earlier this year. They contended it would be unfair to their employes and to other senators.

Since then, however, Keating has said he favored making the payrolls public because "the taxpayers have an absolute right to know what is being done with their money."

Boy Will Serve As 'Attorney General'

NEW YORK (AP)—A 17-year-old boy will serve as "attorney general" for a day at Albany April 21.

Robert J. Cuttica, a senior at St. John's Preparatory school in Brooklyn, won the honor along with first place in an essay contest sponsored by the New York State Department of Law.

Other essay winners who will be "sworn in" to various posts include:

Phillis Stenberg, Linton High School, Schenectady, as "first assistant attorney general."

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz announced the winners today.

Eight students received honorable mention for their essays. They included: Douglas Hatch, Avon Central School, Avon; Phyllis Jane Wagner, Maryvale High School, Cheektowaga; Frederick Schofer, Plattsburgh High School; Joan Christy, Baker-Victory High School, Lackawanna; Rochelle G. Saidel, Glens Falls High School.

The essays were on topics of current national interest.

Found Dead in Auto At Drive-In Theatre

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A man was found dead and a young woman unconscious in an automobile early today at a drive-in theater in nearby West Henrietta.

Police said Earl Jacobs, 25, and Martha Stutz, 19, both of Rochester, apparently had been overcome by carbon monoxide fumes. Miss Stutz was reported in critical condition at Strong Memorial Hospital.

Attendants at the drive-in found the couple when they discovered the automobile still parked after Sunday night's show had ended.

Police said the couple probably had let the car's engine run to keep warm from the heater.

Keating Proposes Department to Aid City Folks

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—More people now live in cities than on farms, says Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), so we ought to have a "department of Urbiculture."

Keating said Saturday this department could aid city dwellers much as the Department of Agriculture helps farmers.

He noted that, when the Agriculture Department was set up, 80 per cent of the population lived on farms. Today less than 15 per cent live on farms and the trend is still to the cities, he said.

Keating said that, among other things, the proposed cabinet agency could make sure that "cities get a fair share of the substantial federal funds now being spent on housing, highways and similar programs."

It could also cooperate with state and local governments, he said, on developing "national programs for combatting smog, slums and traffic jams, just as the Department of Agriculture has developed programs to combat drought, soil erosion and depressed farm profits."

Death of Man Found In Canal Is Accidental

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — The death of a 40-year-old man whose body was discovered floating in the power canal Saturday has been termed accidental.

Dr. Samuel Livingston, St. Lawrence County coroner, said the body of Hugh Begley, 40, had been in the water six to eight hours.

Begley's death, Livingston ruled Saturday, was caused by asphyxiation due to drowning.

Begley, a sheet metal worker, had arrived in this village a few weeks ago. He formerly lived in South Boston, Mass.

Begley's automobile was found parked on N. Main Street, several hundred yards from a pontoon bridge over the canal.

West Does Well to Set Contract

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When you hold four trumps it is generally advisable to open your long suit and try to force declarer rather than a short suit in hope of getting in a ruff but West saw nothing attractive about a diamond lead and decided to open his jack of clubs anyway.

It was a good decision indeed. South won the trick with dummy's king and led and finessed the jack of hearts. West ducked. He wanted to get some sort of signal from his partner.

The ten of hearts was played next and East obliged by playing the deuce of spades.

South took his ace and led the queen of hearts but now West was ready for the kill. He went up with the king and played ace and another diamond.

East won the second diamond and a club ruff set the contract.

Before a lot of readers point out that West could have beaten the hand two tricks by taking the first heart and underleading his ace of diamonds twice, I might add that I am well aware of it but feel that West did very well indeed to set the hand at all.

Niedzielski bought the lathe from Buick for $62. The auto firm paid $3,414.79 for it back in 1929.

Dallas, who was born in Chicago, played a major role in the formation of Revere in 1928. He served as president from 1931 to 1947 and chairman of the board and chief executive officer from 1947 until 1951.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Col. Reynolds Condon, 53, former chief of staff at Ft. Jackson, who retired from the Army in 1956, was found dead on the military post Saturday. The Army termed his death a suicide. He was born in Ohio.

EUSTIS, Fla. (AP) — Thomas A. Conway, 94, former mayor of Elyria, Ohio, died Saturday. He also was a former probate judge of Lorain County, Ohio.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Thomas Lamar Peeler Jr., 52, assistant to the president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, died Sunday of a heart attack. Peeler, who was born in Dallas, had been associated with the railroad 35 years.

$150,000 Fire Destroys Two Large Ballrooms

PITTSFORD, N. Y. (AP) — A weekend fire destroyed two large ballrooms in the Botsford Dancing School, built 17 months ago at a cost of $150,000.

The rest of the one-story frame and cinder block building in this Rochester suburb was damaged by water and smoke.

Three firemen were slightly hurt fighting the flames Saturday.

No estimates of damage or cause were available. Mrs. Enid Knapp Botsford gave the price of the building.

State Union Head Says Management Partly to Blame

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The president of the State AFL-CIO claims management is partly to blame for corruption in labor unions.

Harold C. Hanover also contends that a proposed labor-reform bill supported by the Eisenhower administration would "penalize the victims of the crooks."

In a speech Sunday at Canisius College, Hanover said, "the entire 'fast-buck' philosophy of the business world is at the very heart of the corruption problem in the trade union movement."

"Many of the corruption problems that the labor movement is coping with today," he added, "are the direct result of a few union leaders aping the unsavory, unethical practices of some employers, and their corrupting influences of bribes and grafts, of special deals and inside tips."

The labor bill he attacked has been proposed by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz).

Hanover said it would place "burdensome restrictions and restrains on unions and union officers with no comparable restraints upon employers. . .it fails miserably with the crook who sits on management's side of the table."

He said labor would support a bill to help unions clean their own house of corrupt elements.

The National Fire Protection Assn., a non-profit membership organization, insists that 90 per cent of fires are preventable.

Can your child afford not to have a college education?

ADVANCED EDUCATION does not miraculously confer health, wealth and wisdom. But it helps—as millions have learned. Thus, every year, more and more high school graduates enroll in the particular college program best designed to develop their abilities.

U. S. Census statistics show that the cost of college is returned many times over in extra earnings in later years.

In an average lifetime, college graduates earn $100,000 more than those with a high school education only. And this takes no account of the extra satisfactions a college education can give.

One way to help make sure your children will have the education they need is through Metropolitan's Education-Estate Builder Plan.

This policy may be taken out shortly after a child's birth. Of course, the younger the child, the lower the premium. Then, on maturity of the policy, the amount is available for the child's education. For a slight additional cost, the policy can even provide for the waiver of future premiums to maturity date in the event of the father's death.

And still another advantage to this Metropolitan Education-Estate Builder Plan is the privilege of conversion:

When the policy matures, if the money is not then needed for education, each $1,000 of the plan can be converted into $5,000 of Limited Payment Life insurance. The premium remains unchanged and no medical examination is required.

Thus, this converted insurance becomes a ready-made insurance estate for your child's start in family life.

Planning for your children's education is not a thing that you should put off. It is never too soon to prepare for the costs of a college education.

That is why it is a good idea to talk to your Metropolitan Representative as soon as possible. He will be happy to explain how a Metropolitan Education-Estate Builder Plan can help you give your children the advanced ed on they will need.

N. Y. Senators To Make Office Payrolls Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's two senators will make their office payrolls public "very shortly."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating issued a statement Sunday in behalf of Sen. Jacob K. Javits and himself.

"Both of us hope the Senate as a whole will approve a policy of disclosure, but if not we shall act on our own," Keating said.

The question of public disclosure of office payrolls is expected to come before the Senate Republican Policy Committee tomorrow.

Unlike the House, senators' office payrolls are not public record. Javits and Keating, both Republicans, declined to disclose their office pay scales earlier this year. They contended it would be unfair to their employes and to other senators.

Since then, however, Keating has said he favored making the payrolls public because "the taxpayers have an absolute right to know what is being done with their money."

Boy Will Serve As 'Attorney General'

NEW YORK (AP)—A 17-year-old boy will serve as "attorney general" for a day at Albany April 21.

Robert J. Cuttica, a senior at St. John's Preparatory school in Brooklyn, won the honor along with first place in an essay contest sponsored by the New York State Department of Law.

Other essay winners who will be "sworn in" to various posts include:

Phillis Stenberg, Linton High School, Schenectady, as "first assistant attorney general."

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz announced the winners today.

Eight students received honorable mention for their essays. They included: Douglas Hatch, Avon Central School, Avon; Phyllis Jane Wagner, Maryvale High School, Cheektowaga; Frederick Schofer, Plattsburgh High School; Joan Christy, Baker-Victory High School, Lackawanna; Rochelle G. Saidel, Glens Falls High School.

The essays were on topics of current national interest.

Found Dead in Auto At Drive-In Theatre

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A man was found dead and a young woman unconscious in an automobile early today at a drive-in theater in nearby West Henrietta.

Police said Earl Jacobs, 25, and Martha Stutz, 19, both of Rochester, apparently had been overcome by carbon monoxide fumes. Miss Stutz was reported in critical condition at Strong Memorial Hospital.

Attendants at the drive-in found the couple when they discovered the automobile still parked after Sunday night's show had ended.

Police said the couple probably had let the car's engine run to keep warm from the heater.

Keating Proposes Department to Aid City Folks

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—More people now live in cities than on farms, says Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), so we ought to have a "department of Urbiculture."

Keating said Saturday this department could aid city dwellers much as the Department of Agriculture helps farmers.

He noted that, when the Agriculture Department was set up, 80 per cent of the population lived on farms. Today less than 15 per cent live on farms and the trend is still to the cities, he said.

Keating said that, among other things, the proposed cabinet agency could make sure that "cities get a fair share of the substantial federal funds now being spent on housing, highways and similar programs."

It could also cooperate with state and local governments, he said, on developing "national programs for combatting smog, slums and traffic jams, just as the Department of Agriculture has developed programs to combat drought, soil erosion and depressed farm profits."

Death of Man Found In Canal Is Accidental

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — The death of a 40-year-old man whose body was discovered floating in the power canal Saturday has been termed accidental.

Dr. Samuel Livingston, St. Lawrence County coroner, said the body of Hugh Begley, 40, had been in the water six to eight hours.

Begley's death, Livingston ruled Saturday, was caused by asphyxiation due to drowning.

Begley, a sheet metal worker, had arrived in this village a few weeks ago. He formerly lived in South Boston, Mass.

Begley's automobile was found parked on N. Main Street, several hundred yards from a pontoon bridge over the canal.

West Does Well to Set Contract

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When you hold four trumps it is generally advisable to open your long suit and try to force declarer rather than a short suit in hope of getting in a ruff but West saw nothing attractive about a diamond lead and decided to open his jack of clubs anyway.

It was a good decision indeed. South won the trick with dummy's king and led and finessed the jack of hearts. West ducked. He wanted to get some sort of signal from his partner.

The ten of hearts was played next and East obliged by playing the deuce of spades.

South took his ace and led the queen of hearts but now West was ready for the kill. He went up with the king and played ace and another diamond.

East won the second diamond and a club ruff set the contract.

Before a lot of readers point out that West could have beaten the hand two tricks by taking the first heart and underleading his ace of diamonds twice, I might add that I am well aware of it but feel that West did very well indeed to set the hand at all.

Retires, Buys Lathe

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Many retiring employes go home with a wrist watch as a token of "well done" after their last day on the job.

Edwin W. Niedzielski, who retired after 41 years with Buick, went home with the two-ton lathe he had used for nearly 30 years.

296th Anniversary of Indian Raid

Grade Pupils to Reenact Burning Of Hurley May 17 as H-C Activity

The burining of Hurley 296 years ago by the Indians will be reenacted Sunday, May 17 at 2 p. m. as part of Hurley's Year of History celebration.

The Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Grade pupils of Hurley School will portray the reenactment with the assistance of the Hurley School Parents Club on the Hurley School grounds.

History records that the Indian attack took place at almost the same site.

The story is a dramatic one. One Thursday morning early in June, 1663, the fathers and big boys of Hurley's 15 families went unarmed to the fields. They were cultivating their second crop, the first having been successfully harvested the previous fall. A lookout was still mantained at a corner of the village stockade, but the apparent agreement between the Indians and Gov. Stuyvesant lulled everyone into what proved to be a false sense of security.

The gates of the stockade were open and a few Indians were even wandering through the village trading and watching the children play. Suddenly, at a signal, the Indians gathered the children, dragged the women from their houses and began herding them out of the village. Other Indians appeared from nowhere.

Set Fire To Village

Pulling burning logs from the fireplaces of the empty houses, they set the entire village on fire. Two men who had brought a wagon to the village for repair, attempted to intervene and were killed. Another, who was working on his half finished barn nearby, could have done no more than pick up a tool to fight when a tomahawk laid him low. The men in the fields, unarmed and outnumbered, could do nothing but retreat to the woods while their village burned and the Indians made off with their wives and children. Nothing was left of the village but the half finished barn and the wagon. Eight women and 26 children were taken into the wilderness with their savage captors.

It took some time to organize a posse to bring back the captives. The Indians had a strong fort with a triple palisade in the Swangunks and volunteers were not quick to step forward to held the settlers recover their loved ones. A few prisoners were ransomed during the summer, and by fall a small company of soldiers and some 46 Indians from a friendly Long Island tribe were ready to go with the settlers to rescue the remaining captives.

Caught Off Guard

By a strange coincidence, the Inidans this time were caught off guard. They were in the field harvesting and unarmed, when they were surprised by the rescue party. In the melee the captives were rescued, the Indians' harvest destroyed, their weapons broken and many Indians killed.

Returning to rebuild their village the settlers and the returned captives must have joined in a great thanksgiving for their safe return.

Thursday afternoon Harry Rigby Jr., of Kingston, a member of the State Commission on Historic Observances and advisor to the Hudson Valley Council spoke to the children of the Hurley School.

It was the third talk in a series designed to acquaint the children with their local heritage, and to prepare them for the essay contest being conducted throughout the county by the mayor's committee for the Year of History.

Region's Beginning

Rigby began his talk with the dramatic story of the geological formation of our region. He took the children back 60,000,000 years to the time when there were mountains hereabouts higher than the Alps, and the land we know was the bottom of a great inland sea. Rivers rushing down those steep mountains formed great deltas where they entered the inland sea.

Then a mighty change took place. The mountains shifted and crumbled, as the bottom of the inland sea raised above the sea level. The river deltas then stood like high plateaus above the sea bottom. Wind and rain has worn them down so that they appear like mountains, our familiar Catskills. But the stone in the mountains is all sandstone — bluestone and shale, or limestone—which is made up of the skeletons and shells of little sea animals, not igneous rock like true mountains which are thrust up out of the center of the earth.

Rigby moved on to the settling of the region and dwelt particularly on the ideas and ideals generated here by the people who made this part of the country their new home. He mentioned the spirit of independence here in the Hudson Valley expressed before the great Declaration of Independence in Philadelphia. In Patterson, little town in southern Dutchess County, British soldiers were fired on nine years before Bunker Hill, and a Declaration of Independence was signed in Coxsackie in 1775. The people of Hurley were strong from the beginning in their resistance to British domination.

Many settlements in our country were founded by homogenous groups, Quakers here, Germans, there, French and English in separate colonies. The Hudson Valley region was a "melting pot" from the first. Living together here in harmony were Dutch, French, English, Scandinavian, German and Spanish, he said.

Some of the children were able to stay afterward to hear Mr. Rigby relate some of the amusing folklore of Hurley. The Hurley Historian, which has proved in the past to be another good source of information for children participating in the essay contest will be out on April 17.

Letter From Governor

It contains among its many features, an account of the Indian raid on Hurley in 1663; a letter from Governor Rockefeller commending Hurley for its part in the Hudson-Champlain Festival; the history of the library in Hurley, an essay by Susan Popp, "Youth Sees the Beauty of Age," and various other interesting bits.

ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT—Ira L. Cahn slept soundly the whole night through in his Wantagh, L.I., N.Y., home but thieves were awake. This is the sad sight that greeted Cahn in the morning. All four wheels had been taken and his car was resting on its brake drums.

Reports Car Stolen

Silas Elsworth, of 9 Meadow Street, reported to Kingston Police Saturday that someone stole his 1949 sedan from a parking space near his home. He valued the car at $50. The red and black car was registered A-6455 New York. The theft reportedly occurred sometime during the night.

Jurors Complete Plans for Murphy Dinner May 13th

Plans were announced completed today for the 25th anniversary banquet and testimonial dinner of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County.

The event is scheduled for Wednesday, May 13, at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, commemorating the 25th anniversary of the juror's group and also will honor Thomas J. Murphy, long-time president of the organization.

A full course turkey dinner will be served, family style, it was announced by Mrs. Raymond Schuler, chairman of the dinner committee.

Mrs. Schuler today announced that the following are assisting her with plans for the dinner and program:

Mrs. Anne M. Ashdown, Fred Baumgarten, Edward Mauer, Edmund Zeidler and Chester Elliott. Serving on the reception committee are Ward Deierfelter, Percy Croswell, F. Leslie Garrison, Mrs. Robert Hanes, Mrs. Samuel Keyes and Mrs. Anna W. Webster.

The May 13 event, Mrs. Schuler said, is open to both members of the association and their guests and will tie in with the local Hudson-Champlain celebration.

Smooth Operator

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Someone jimmied the trunk of a car owned by sales man Blanchard T. Morris of Kansas City and stole $1,495 worth of razors and blades—enough to keep the thief clean shaven for 700 years, police calculated.

296th Anniversary of Indian Raid

Grade Pupils to Reenact Burning Of Hurley May 17 as H-C Activity

The burining of Hurley 296 years ago by the Indians will be reenacted Sunday, May 17 at 2 p. m. as part of Hurley's Year of History celebration.

The Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Grade pupils of Hurley School will portray the reenactment with the assistance of the Hurley School Parents Club on the Hurley School grounds.

History records that the Indian attack took place at almost the same site.

The story is a dramatic one. One Thursday morning early in June, 1663, the fathers and big boys of Hurley's 15 families went unarmed to the fields. They were cultivating their second crop, the first having been successfully harvested the previous fall. A lookout was still mantained at a corner of the village stockade, but the apparent agreement between the Indians and Gov. Stuyvesant lulled everyone into what proved to be a false sense of security.

The gates of the stockade were open and a few Indians were even wandering through the village trading and watching the children play. Suddenly, at a signal, the Indians gathered the children, dragged the women from their houses and began herding them out of the village. Other Indians appeared from nowhere.

Set Fire To Village

Pulling burning logs from the fireplaces of the empty houses, they set the entire village on fire. Two men who had brought a wagon to the village for repair, attempted to intervene and were killed. Another, who was working on his half finished barn nearby, could have done no more than pick up a tool to fight when a tomahawk laid him low. The men in the fields, unarmed and outnumbered, could do nothing but retreat to the woods while their village burned and the Indians made off with their wives and children. Nothing was left of the village but the half finished barn and the wagon. Eight women and 26 children were taken into the wilderness with their savage captors.

It took some time to organize a posse to bring back the captives. The Indians had a strong fort with a triple palisade in the Swangunks and volunteers were not quick to step forward to held the settlers recover their loved ones. A few prisoners were ransomed during the summer, and by fall a small company of soldiers and some 46 Indians from a friendly Long Island tribe were ready to go with the settlers to rescue the remaining captives.

Caught Off Guard

By a strange coincidence, the Inidans this time were caught off guard. They were in the field harvesting and unarmed, when they were surprised by the rescue party. In the melee the captives were rescued, the Indians' harvest destroyed, their weapons broken and many Indians killed.

Returning to rebuild their village the settlers and the returned captives must have joined in a great thanksgiving for their safe return.

Thursday afternoon Harry Rigby Jr., of Kingston, a member of the State Commission on Historic Observances and advisor to the Hudson Valley Council spoke to the children of the Hurley School.

It was the third talk in a series designed to acquaint the children with their local heritage, and to prepare them for the essay contest being conducted throughout the county by the mayor's committee for the Year of History.

Region's Beginning

Rigby began his talk with the dramatic story of the geological formation of our region. He took the children back 60,000,000 years to the time when there were mountains hereabouts higher than the Alps, and the land we know was the bottom of a great inland sea. Rivers rushing down those steep mountains formed great deltas where they entered the inland sea.

Then a mighty change took place. The mountains shifted and crumbled, as the bottom of the inland sea raised above the sea level. The river deltas then stood like high plateaus above the sea bottom. Wind and rain has worn them down so that they appear like mountains, our familiar Catskills. But the stone in the mountains is all sandstone — bluestone and shale, or limestone—which is made up of the skeletons and shells of little sea animals, not igneous rock like true mountains which are thrust up out of the center of the earth.

Rigby moved on to the settling of the region and dwelt particularly on the ideas and ideals generated here by the people who made this part of the country their new home. He mentioned the spirit of independence here in the Hudson Valley expressed before the great Declaration of Independence in Philadelphia. In Patterson, little town in southern Dutchess County, British soldiers were fired on nine years before Bunker Hill, and a Declaration of Independence was signed in Coxsackie in 1775. The people of Hurley were strong from the beginning in their resistance to British domination.

Many settlements in our country were founded by homogenous groups, Quakers here, Germans, there, French and English in separate colonies. The Hudson Valley region was a "melting pot" from the first. Living together here in harmony were Dutch, French, English, Scandinavian, German and Spanish, he said.

Some of the children were able to stay afterward to hear Mr. Rigby relate some of the amusing folklore of Hurley. The Hurley Historian, which has proved in the past to be another good source of information for children participating in the essay contest will be out on April 17.

Letter From Governor

It contains among its many features, an account of the Indian raid on Hurley in 1663; a letter from Governor Rockefeller commending Hurley for its part in the Hudson-Champlain Festival; the history of the library in Hurley, an essay by Susan Popp, "Youth Sees the Beauty of Age," and various other interesting bits.

ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT—Ira L. Cahn slept soundly the whole night through in his Wantagh, L.I., N.Y., home but thieves were awake. This is the sad sight that greeted Cahn in the morning. All four wheels had been taken and his car was resting on its brake drums.

Reports Car Stolen

Silas Elsworth, of 9 Meadow Street, reported to Kingston Police Saturday that someone stole his 1949 sedan from a parking space near his home. He valued the car at $50. The red and black car was registered A-6455 New York. The theft reportedly occurred sometime during the night.

A full course turkey dinner will be served, family style, it was announced by Mrs. Raymond Schuler, chairman of the dinner committee.

Mrs. Schuler today announced that the following are assisting her with plans for the dinner and program:

Mrs. Anne M. Ashdown, Fred Baumgarten, Edward Mauer, Edmund Zeidler and Chester Elliott. Serving on the reception committee are Ward Deierfelter, Percy Croswell, F. Leslie Garrison, Mrs. Robert Hanes, Mrs. Samuel Keyes and Mrs. Anna W. Webster.

Smooth Operator

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Someone jimmied the trunk of a car owned by sales man Blanchard T. Morris of Kansas City and stole $1,495 worth of razors and blades—enough to keep the thief clean shaven for 700 years, police calculated.

Internal Revenue Has Gigantic Task Ahead

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just how much of a looking over will the Internal Revenue Service give my income tax return for 1958?

A lot of people may be wondering that, since the deadline for filing returns is Wednesday.

This year, IRS says, there will be returns from around 60 million individuals, 975,000 corporations, and a million partnerships, plus 20 million employment tax returns, and 3 million returns on federal excise, alcohol and tobacco taxes. There will be 260 million documents involving those returns.

That's a lot of looking over for the 50,000 people employed by IRS in its nine regional, 64 district, and 900 branch offices. Of the 50,000, about 15,500 are auditors but a lot of the others are used in checking returns.

In the case of some of the biggest corporations, IRS assigns three to five agents all year around because they have complexities never dreamed of by an individual taxpayer.

Last year 2,841,000 returns—including 159,000 from corporations—were completely checked. This means more than just checking the arithmetic. A complete check means auditors went over the books of corporations or the records of individuals.

This year about 30 million people will have used the short-form 1040 because they made less than $10,000 in salary and fitted other requirements for using this simple return. These get looked over to see that the exemptions tally.

But they can be run through electronic computer machines which not only can determine the tax but can figure out whether you overpaid or still owe some tax.

All those reporting income over $10,000 not only get their arithmetic checked but also get a going over by an experienced agent to see whether the return should be accepted or turned over to an auditor for deeper examination.

The auditing can be done by calling in the taxpayer for a conference or sending an agent to his home or office to examine his records. The 2,841,000 returns audited last year brought the government an extra 1½ billion dollars.

Last year IRS found 1,905,000 errors in making the simple arithmetical check. Of that total, 1,245,000 taxpayers had made errors in their own favor. IRS usually tries to get a delinquent taxpayer to file a return. If he doesn't, IRS can file it for him and then set out to collect.

What happens if IRS audits your return and then decides you owe more tax?

You are notified but you can appeal to IRS'.

First, through a conference with the agent who examined your return and with his supervisor. Then if you are still not convinced, with special technical advisers who work in IRS separately from the agents.

If after all this you and the service still don't agree, IRS will issue what is called a statutory notice this means within those 90 days you must appeal to the U.S. tax court or pay up.

Suppose you ignore the 90-day notice, don't appeal, and don't pay up. IRS presents you with a bill. Then either you pay or IRS will try to collect by seizing your salary, your car, or other possessions.

Last year IRS issued 73,000 statutory notices. But 66,000 people who got them paid up within the 90-day limit. That left 7,000 to fight it out in court.

In case of a downright evasion of tax a criminal charge can be made. But out of 60 million taxpayers, IRS says, only about 1,000 face criminal action each year.

LIVING HIGH ON THE HOG

Want to know how to live without working?

It's simple. Vote for the Welfare State and have kids. This is the way to independence.

Mr. Brooker, of England, lives with his wife, 13 children, 12 dogs and 1 cat—28 in all.

MR. HUTTON

And he doesn't work. Not that he's sick. He's well. Not that he is rich. He's not. He has a mortgage on his house.

The fact is, he can't afford to work. The Welfare State gives him subsidies and allowances of cash, groceries, milk, clothing and free doctors' bills amounting to more than he could earn if he got a job.

So the other Britishers, who do have jobs, but not 13 kids, have the job of supporting Mr. Brooker, as well as themselves.

Do I hear some one say, "That can't happen here"? Listen, my friend, it does happen here.

Judge Bretherick, of Philadelphia, says, "It becomes apparent that child bearing has become a business venture." He says ten or eleven illegitimate children of one mother are not uncommon in the county where he holds court.

Subsidizing immorality and the breakdown of character has become big-time politics.

Meantime, organized labor demands unemployment compensation so high that incentives to find jobs approach the vanishing point.

New Yorkers Are Bound for Dublin On Europe Tour

LONDON (AP) — A group of New Yorkers left today for Dublin, the last stop on their goodwill tour of Europe.

Twenty-eight members of the group were received by U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney Sunday.

They gave him a special gold medal commemorating the 350th anniversary of Henry Hudson's exploration in 1609 of the Hudson River valley.

"I'm delighted to welcome you to London," he said. "I will value this medal and I accept it proudly in my capacity as ambassador and as someone who is almost a native of New York State."

Whitney explained that although he was born in Maine, he has lived most of his life in New York.

The group that visited Whitney was led by State Sen. Frank S. McCullough, of Rye, State Sen. Joseph Zaretzki, of Manhattan, and Mrs. Janet Hill Gordon, state senator from Norwich.

The group also included Assemblyman Daniel Becker, Newburgh, Grant W. Johnson, Ticonderoga and H. Kaye Kerr, Syracuse.

The medal presented to Whitney was struck to mark the New York Year of History commemorating Hudson's historic voyage.

Judge Bretherick, of Philadelphia, says, "It becomes apparent that child bearing has become a business venture." He says ten or eleven illegitimate children of one mother are not uncommon in the county where he holds court.

He estimates that 31 to 35 per cent of public assistance tax money for deendent children goes to support the kids of unwed mothers.

Subsidizing immorality and the breakdown of character has become big-time politics.

Meantime, organized labor demands unemployment compensation so high that incentives to find jobs approach the vanishing point.

35 Club Nips Accord, 58-56, to Win 'B' League Cage Title

Sickler Makes Winning Shot In Final Seconds

Big Bob Bondar rimmed 24 24 points and little Herm Sickler sank a pressurized basket with three seconds left to play to give the 35 Club a pulsating, 58-56, win over Accord in the championship game of the YMCA "B" league. A capacity crowd viewed the Saturday night contest.

The winners had to survive a blistering fourth period attack by Accord to nail down the triumph. Sickler's basket came on the heels of a six point rally by the losers, which brought them from a 56-50 deficit to a tie.

The winners led all the way and seemed headed for an easy triumph. However, with seven minutes to play, Bondar fouled out. His absence was felt and the Accord five started to close the gap, finally knotting the score seconds before the finish.

Late Rally

With 2:10 to play, it was 56-50, with the 35 Club on top. Werner hit with a layup and then Ron Winsor stole a pass and hit with a fade away hook. With 21 seconds to play, Duke Decker scored for Accord to tie the count. The winners then worked the ball for the last shot and Sickler's 30 foot one hander was good.

Monk Richards, an improved player helped Bondar in the scoring department with 12 points. Sickler had eight, including the big one. Werner Wustrau led the losers with Werner contributing 20 points and brother Frank making 15. Winsor chipped in with 12.

Newcomer Wins At Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Professional golf's increasing brigade of talented youngsters got a new member today in Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., and his credentials included a victory in the annual $5,000 Lake Charles Invitational Tournament.

The 22-year-old product of the University of Georgia came home in front by three strokes Sunday with a 72-hole total of 278.

Ivan Sicks of Lake Charles took fourth place with 283. Charlie Harper of Columbus, Royer's tutor for the last four years, finished fifth at 285.

Highland Coach Rates Club a Question Mark

Coach Bob Relyea of Highland High School thinks his baseball club is a question mark this spring.

Highland finished second last year in the UCAL, but has lost several players. Only returnees are pitchers Ralph Penny, Phil Bezzaro and Bill Philips. They all hit in the .300s, the coach pointed out, but last year's star flinger Dave Burdash has graduated.

Newcomers to the squad are Sal Paporta, Jim Hannon, Ross Prizzia, Martin Timperio, Roy Terwilliger, John Brennie, Fred Bragg, Len Stevens, Walt Roe, Anthony Vigliotto and Harold Berean.

Highland is scheduled to open its season tomorrow at Arlington.

Chisox Have Real Pennant Weapons Giants Falsh Old Ninth-Inning Punch

Relief Pitcher, Home Run Ball Crop Up Early

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three days don't make a week, let alone a season but it sure looks today as if the Chicago White Sox have the two ingredients they lacked most last season. That would be home run punch and strong relief pitching.

It was this combination that helped them win their third straight Sunday, a 5-3 decision over Detroit. The home run punch was provided by rookie Norm Cash. The relief pitching was furnished by rookie Rudolfo Arias and sophomore Bob Shaw. Each came in to stifle a Tiger threat with the bases loaded.

Chicago's three in a row has the club alone at the top of the American League heap. Three other teams still are undefeated. Cleveland has won two and Washington and New York one each.

The defending champion Yankees finally were able to open their season at Yankee Stadium. They just did get the game in, too. It began to snow almost immediately after they had nipped the Boston Red Sox 3-2.

Weather Played Havoc

None of the other teams was as fortunate. Rain forced the postponement of the scheduled doubleheader between Baltimore and the Senators at Washington and the single contest at Kansas City between Cleveland and the Athletics.

Veteran catcher Sherm Lollar shared the hitting honors with first baseman Cash for the White Sox. Each drove in two runs. Cash's homer gave the White Sox six in three games. The 1958 Chicago team hit only 101 all year.

Tigers Threaten

It took fine relief pitching by Arias and Shaw to keep the White Sox undefeated. Detroit loaded the bases with only one out in the seventh against starter Dick Donovan. Arias, a Cuban left-hander, came in to get cleanup batter Gail Harris on a called third strike and pinch hitter Gus Zernial on a fly to right field.

Detroit loaded the bases again in the eighth with only one out. This time Shaw took over and got Eddie Yost to ground into a double play.

Bob Turley didn't need any help from the bull pen as he spunt a two-hitter to get the Yankees away winging. Pete Runnels' double in the seventh and Vic Wertz' ninth inning single were the only hits Boston was able to get as Tom Brewer lost on an eight-hitter. Norm Siebern, sporting glasses for the first time, led the Yankee attack with three hits. His home run in the eighth snapped a 2-2 tie.

Overhaul Cards In Two Straight Late Rallies

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The ninth inning wonders are back in business.

It was a year ago that the San Francisco Giants began an intriguing habit pulling out games in the final inning. Nearly a third of their victories were achieved thus.

The 1959 season is only in its infancy and already the Giants have won two of their three games in the closing frame.

They did it for the second time Sunday, scoring three in the ninth to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals for the third consecutive day. The score was 6-3.

Sunday's triumph moved the Giants into first place, a half game in front of the Milwaukee Braves, who won the only two games they have played. Snow prevented the Braves from playing their scheduled game in Pittsburgh.

Dodgers Nip Cubs

In the only other league action, Los Angeles defeated Chicago 5-3. The scheduled doubleheader between the Cincinnati Reds and Phillies in Philadelphia was postponed because of rain.

For one inning it looked like the Cardinals might finally win their first game of the season. They scored three runs in the first against left-hander Mike McCormick on hits by Don Blasingame, Gino Cimoli and Ken Boyer plus three Giant errors.

The Giants tied the score with two in the fifth after scoring one in the third. Then, in the ninth with two out, Orlando Cepeda's triple drove in Jim Davenport, who had beat out a bunt to Cardinal pitcher Vinegar Bend Mizell. Felipe Alou iced the game with a home run.

Al (Red) Worthington, with two hitless relief innings, was credited with the victory.

Demeter Raps Homer

The Dodgers, like the Giants, also overcame a 3-0 deficit. The Cubs got to starter Sandy Koufax for four of their eight hits in the third to score all their runs.

Los Angeles got two runs back in the fourth on rookie catcher Norm Sherry's two-run single. In the seventh, outfielder Don Demeter slammed a home run with Charley Neal on base to put the Dodgers in front 4-3.

Johnny Klippstein, who permitted only one hit in three relief innings, was the winner although Clem Labine helped him with three scoreless innings.

Syracuse U. Signs New Frosh Coach

Schreve, 32, played halfback at Syracuse from 1948 to 1950. He is a native of Scotch Plains, N. J.

Houghtaling Hits 676 To Lead Forst Five

Jack Houghtaling shot a blistering 676 series as Forst Formost won two games from Middletown Friday night in a Hudson Valley league match. The local entry just about clinched third place by accomplishing a rarity, winning two games at Newburgh Saturday. In another local match, Kingston "5" won two from the Liberty Triangle Diner.

Forst socked 968-966-927-2906 against Middletown. Houghtaling had totals of 225-237-219 for his gaudy total. Larry Petersen helped withm 220-180-209-609. Bert Zimmer had 635 on lines of 197-225-213 and Ralph Clark shot 211-216-181-606 for the Merchants.

Petersen and Houghtaling provided the one-two punch against Charles Men's Shop at Newburgh. Captain Larry made 178-225-221-624 and Houghtaling had 192-185-237-614. George Chairamonte had 214-158-234-606 for the losers. After dropping the first game 951-880, Forst had 921-1016 to take the next two.

The Kingston "5", who have been hitting consistently good scores in recent weeks, collected 2788 sticks against Liberty. Phil Battaglia showed the way with 193-227-183-603. Don Rampe led the home side with 606 on lines of 178-204-224.

200 Sign for Fishing Boats On Lake Erie

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Commercial fishing in Lake Erie isn't all it used to be, veterans say. Yet, some 200 men have signed to sail with fishing boats this summer.

Owners of the tugs, some braving melting ice floes, are hopeful of catching and selling about one million dollars worth of fish before another winter comes.

Veterans in the fishing fleets assembled in Erie's harbor say the catch of yellow pike, yellow perch and white fish has fallen in recent years.

Many other species of once plentiful fish such as lake trout, sturgeon and sauger pike have all but disappeared, the fishermen say.

Fishermen say lake pollution and a let-down in stocking programs are partially responsible for the decline.

Many of the fishermen, however, place more blame on an influx of smelt and gizzard shad into the lake waters.

The gizzard shad, a large flat fish with saw-tooth fins on its stomach, rips the fishing nets as well as destroys other species.

The smelt have some food value and are sold, but not at the profit that some of the fish it harms would bring. The gizzard shad has little, if any, food value.

But the fisherman, hoping for better times, say the million-dollar-a-year industry still is worth working as long as markets hold up in such places as New York, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

35 Club Nips Accord, 58-56, to Win 'B' League Cage Title

Sickler Makes Winning Shot In Final Seconds

Big Bob Bondar rimmed 24 24 points and little Herm Sickler sank a pressurized basket with three seconds left to play to give the 35 Club a pulsating, 58-56, win over Accord in the championship game of the YMCA "B" league. A capacity crowd viewed the Saturday night contest.

The winners had to survive a blistering fourth period attack by Accord to nail down the triumph. Sickler's basket came on the heels of a six point rally by the losers, which brought them from a 56-50 deficit to a tie.

The winners led all the way and seemed headed for an easy triumph. However, with seven minutes to play, Bondar fouled out. His absence was felt and the Accord five started to close the gap, finally knotting the score seconds before the finish.

Late Rally

With 2:10 to play, it was 56-50, with the 35 Club on top. Werner hit with a layup and then Ron Winsor stole a pass and hit with a fade away hook. With 21 seconds to play, Duke Decker scored for Accord to tie the count. The winners then worked the ball for the last shot and Sickler's 30 foot one hander was good.

Monk Richards, an improved player helped Bondar in the scoring department with 12 points. Sickler had eight, including the big one. Werner Wustrau led the losers with Werner contributing 20 points and brother Frank making 15. Winsor chipped in with 12.

Newcomer Wins At Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Professional golf's increasing brigade of talented youngsters got a new member today in Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., and his credentials included a victory in the annual $5,000 Lake Charles Invitational Tournament.

The 22-year-old product of the University of Georgia came home in front by three strokes Sunday with a 72-hole total of 278.

Ivan Sicks of Lake Charles took fourth place with 283. Charlie Harper of Columbus, Royer's tutor for the last four years, finished fifth at 285.

Highland Coach Rates Club a Question Mark

Coach Bob Relyea of Highland High School thinks his baseball club is a question mark this spring.

Highland finished second last year in the UCAL, but has lost several players. Only returnees are pitchers Ralph Penny, Phil Bezzaro and Bill Philips. They all hit in the .300s, the coach pointed out, but last year's star flinger Dave Burdash has graduated.

Newcomers to the squad are Sal Paporta, Jim Hannon, Ross Prizzia, Martin Timperio, Roy Terwilliger, John Brennie, Fred Bragg, Len Stevens, Walt Roe, Anthony Vigliotto and Harold Berean.

Highland is scheduled to open its season tomorrow at Arlington.

Giants Falsh Old Ninth-Inning Punch

Relief Pitcher, Home Run Ball Crop Up Early

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three days don't make a week, let alone a season but it sure looks today as if the Chicago White Sox have the two ingredients they lacked most last season. That would be home run punch and strong relief pitching.

It was this combination that helped them win their third straight Sunday, a 5-3 decision over Detroit. The home run punch was provided by rookie Norm Cash. The relief pitching was furnished by rookie Rudolfo Arias and sophomore Bob Shaw. Each came in to stifle a Tiger threat with the bases loaded.

Chicago's three in a row has the club alone at the top of the American League heap. Three other teams still are undefeated. Cleveland has won two and Washington and New York one each.

The defending champion Yankees finally were able to open their season at Yankee Stadium. They just did get the game in, too. It began to snow almost immediately after they had nipped the Boston Red Sox 3-2.

Weather Played Havoc

None of the other teams was as fortunate. Rain forced the postponement of the scheduled doubleheader between Baltimore and the Senators at Washington and the single contest at Kansas City between Cleveland and the Athletics.

Veteran catcher Sherm Lollar shared the hitting honors with first baseman Cash for the White Sox. Each drove in two runs. Cash's homer gave the White Sox six in three games. The 1958 Chicago team hit only 101 all year.

Tigers Threaten

It took fine relief pitching by Arias and Shaw to keep the White Sox undefeated. Detroit loaded the bases with only one out in the seventh against starter Dick Donovan. Arias, a Cuban left-hander, came in to get cleanup batter Gail Harris on a called third strike and pinch hitter Gus Zernial on a fly to right field.

Detroit loaded the bases again in the eighth with only one out. This time Shaw took over and got Eddie Yost to ground into a double play.

Bob Turley didn't need any help from the bull pen as he spunt a two-hitter to get the Yankees away winging. Pete Runnels' double in the seventh and Vic Wertz' ninth inning single were the only hits Boston was able to get as Tom Brewer lost on an eight-hitter. Norm Siebern, sporting glasses for the first time, led the Yankee attack with three hits. His home run in the eighth snapped a 2-2 tie.

Overhaul Cards In Two Straight Late Rallies

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The ninth inning wonders are back in business.

It was a year ago that the San Francisco Giants began an intriguing habit pulling out games in the final inning. Nearly a third of their victories were achieved thus.

The 1959 season is only in its infancy and already the Giants have won two of their three games in the closing frame.

They did it for the second time Sunday, scoring three in the ninth to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals for the third consecutive day. The score was 6-3.

Sunday's triumph moved the Giants into first place, a half game in front of the Milwaukee Braves, who won the only two games they have played. Snow prevented the Braves from playing their scheduled game in Pittsburgh.

Dodgers Nip Cubs

In the only other league action, Los Angeles defeated Chicago 5-3. The scheduled doubleheader between the Cincinnati Reds and Phillies in Philadelphia was postponed because of rain.

For one inning it looked like the Cardinals might finally win their first game of the season. They scored three runs in the first against left-hander Mike McCormick on hits by Don Blasingame, Gino Cimoli and Ken Boyer plus three Giant errors.

The Giants tied the score with two in the fifth after scoring one in the third. Then, in the ninth with two out, Orlando Cepeda's triple drove in Jim Davenport, who had beat out a bunt to Cardinal pitcher Vinegar Bend Mizell. Felipe Alou iced the game with a home run.

Al (Red) Worthington, with two hitless relief innings, was credited with the victory.

Demeter Raps Homer

The Dodgers, like the Giants, also overcame a 3-0 deficit. The Cubs got to starter Sandy Koufax for four of their eight hits in the third to score all their runs.

Los Angeles got two runs back in the fourth on rookie catcher Norm Sherry's two-run single. In the seventh, outfielder Don Demeter slammed a home run with Charley Neal on base to put the Dodgers in front 4-3.

Johnny Klippstein, who permitted only one hit in three relief innings, was the winner although Clem Labine helped him with three scoreless innings.

GEORGE HOOKER'S 238-584 cluster gave him the runnerup spot in the Ferraro Mixer. Houghtaling Hits 676 To Lead Forst Five

Jack Houghtaling shot a blistering 676 series as Forst Formost won two games from Middletown Friday night in a Hudson Valley league match. The local entry just about clinched third place by accomplishing a rarity, winning two games at Newburgh Saturday. In another local match, Kingston "5" won two from the Liberty Triangle Diner.

Forst socked 968-966-927-2906 against Middletown. Houghtaling had totals of 225-237-219 for his gaudy total. Larry Petersen helped withm 220-180-209-609. Bert Zimmer had 635 on lines of 197-225-213 and Ralph Clark shot 211-216-181-606 for the Merchants.

Petersen and Houghtaling provided the one-two punch against Charles Men's Shop at Newburgh. Captain Larry made 178-225-221-624 and Houghtaling had 192-185-237-614. George Chairamonte had 214-158-234-606 for the losers. After dropping the first game 951-880, Forst had 921-1016 to take the next two.

The Kingston "5", who have been hitting consistently good scores in recent weeks, collected 2788 sticks against Liberty. Phil Battaglia showed the way with 193-227-183-603. Don Rampe led the home side with 606 on lines of 178-204-224.

Syracuse U. Signs New Frosh Coach

Schreve, 32, played halfback at Syracuse from 1948 to 1950. He is a native of Scotch Plains, N. J.

200 Sign for Fishing Boats On Lake Erie

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Commercial fishing in Lake Erie isn't all it used to be, veterans say. Yet, some 200 men have signed to sail with fishing boats this summer.

Owners of the tugs, some braving melting ice floes, are hopeful of catching and selling about one million dollars worth of fish before another winter comes.

Veterans in the fishing fleets assembled in Erie's harbor say the catch of yellow pike, yellow perch and white fish has fallen in recent years.

Many other species of once plentiful fish such as lake trout, sturgeon and sauger pike have all but disappeared, the fishermen say.

All of these factors have taken a toll in the industry profits.

Fishermen say lake pollution and a let-down in stocking programs are partially responsible for the decline.

Many of the fishermen, however, place more blame on an influx of smelt and gizzard shad into the lake waters.

The smelts, reportedly millions of them, eat the spawn of the blue pike and white fish, both of which are valuable on the commercial market.

The gizzard shad, a large flat fish with saw-tooth fins on its stomach, rips the fishing nets as well as destroys other species.

The smelt have some food value and are sold, but not at the profit that some of the fish it harms would bring. The gizzard shad has little, if any, food value.

But the fisherman, hoping for better times, say the million-dollar-a-year industry still is worth working as long as markets hold up in such places as New York, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

George (Lanky) Masterson's retirement as Newburgh Academy basketball coach has removed another of the titans from the DUSO League scene.

The once imposing list is dwindling steadily. Coach G. Warren Kias, Al Chase, Jack Hughes, C. Everett Stevens are no longer involved in major sports. Sam Kalloch fights off the inevitable at Poughkeepsie High.

Masterson picked up where G. Warren Kias left off and in the 11 years from 1948-49 season, the Goldbacks won 178 games and lost only 43. They captured seven DUSO championships, finished second twice; third place once and fourth place on another occasion. The extra accomplishments were eight Section Nine titles, two Intersectional championships in a tournament they were runnersup five times. The Goldbacks won two Newburgh City titles in playoffs with St. Patrick's Academy.

Only G. Warren Kias and Bill Burke can match Masterson's run of wins over a specified period of years. And like these Maroon stalwarts, Masterson developed a large number of outstanding stars.

• Of Burkoski and Tyler:

Perhaps Masterson's two top basketball players were Dick Tyler, who played varsity ball at North Carolina State, and Mickey (The Marvel) Burkoski, a varsity starter at Manhattan College where he terminated his collegiate career a few weeks ago.

Th 1949-50 Newburgh team of Dick Tyler and company won 18 straight, with only one DUSO League loss. The 1951-52 team with Burkoski and the Spree twins ran up 21 straight victories before bowing to Nott Terrace in the Intersectional finals. From the end of the 1950-51 season, through 1951-52 and part of the 1952-53 campaign, Newburgh reeled off its all-time school record of 37 straight victories. The 1954-55 squad was undefeated in DUSO competition, before losing to Nott Terrace in the Intersectionals.

Masterson's 1956-57 "Cinderella Kids" confounded the DUSO experts by grabbing the DUSO and Intersectional crowns. The current 1958-59 DUSO champions won 14 and lost 2 in league play and compiled an overall mark of 16 and 3.

Masterson acquired the championship touch long before he arrived at NFA, having coached several pennant winning squads at Ravena and Hendrick Hudson High School at Montrose. His 14-year record at Newburgh shows 200 wins and 80 defeats. Lanky's first season in 1945-46 resulted in 12 wins and 8 losses and second in the DUSO League.

• Stern Hand Paid Off:

The 1946-47-48 era represented the low ebb of Masterson's NFA career, with the Goldbacks winning only four games in each season. But in those two seasons he licked a problem that had plagued the Academy for many years—some stars played for themselves, no team work and disregard of training rules. The psychological effect of Masterson's stern attitude paid handsome dividends. The 1948-49 squad won 13 and lost 4 for a second-place finish. By 1949-50 the record soared to 21 and 2 and the Masterson legend began to take shape.

Masterson will be missed in the DUSO scene. Great coaches are invariably great personalities. Although some rivals may find comfort in Masterson's departure, the fact is the DUSO basketball league is poorer without him.

• Of Men and Mice:

Small world item: Robert Dittus, son of John Dittus Jr. of the Freeman typographical department, bumped into a couple of Kingston High School athletic stars—footballer Red Peck and John Kelly of basketball fame—at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. during the Easter recess. Fort Lauderdale, the fastest growing city in America, is a mecca for high school and college students during the Easter break. . . . Robert and his dad also visited with Marty Lenehan, formerly of Kingston, who resides at Oakland Park, near Fort Lauderdale. . . . Bruce Wiederspiel, Onteora Central's three-letter ace, appears headed for the University of Buffalo. He also has been signed by the Saugerties Dutchmen as a pitcher for their New York-New Jersey Baseball League squad. . . . Bob Shulman, another Onteora star, may wind up at the University of Bridgeport.

Long Predicts New Shot Mark

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) —Dallas Long thinks he should break the existing world shot put record this year by at least 3½ feet.

That may sound like a high ambition for an 18-year-old university freshman. But Long has some facts and figures to back up his words.

During an exhibition in Phoenix Saturday night, Long pushed the shot 64-feet 6-inches, bettering Parry O'Brien's world record by 16 inches.

On three other attempts the 6-5, 245 - pounder topped the world mark of 63-feet 2-inches.

The youong University of Southern California student said he should hit at least 66 feet this year.

"That's not what you could call my goal. It's just the distance I think I should reach by the end of the year. And the future? I'll have to wait and see how things develop."

Chisox Get Fast Start

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) —Those Go-Go White Sox are going places, says Manager Al Lopez.

"This is the fast start we've been looking for," said the Chicago manager after his club completed a sweep of a three-game series against the Detroit Tigers. "Beating a club as good as Detroit three in a row can do wonders for a club like the Sox."

Lopez has been a runnerup to the New York Yankees seven of the eight seasons he has been an American League manager. Always the optimist, Lopez contends each spring that his team is capable of beating out the Yankees.

Depends on Rookies

This year, the Sox skipper is depending on a pair of green rookies, neither of whom has had as much as two full seasons in the minor leagues.

"They can make or break us," said Lopez.

Lopez is talking about Norm Cash, a 24-year-old outfielder who was handed the first base job, and John Callison, a left fielder who just turned 20.

Cash hit his first major league home run in Sunday's 5-3 victory.

"These guys aren't just experiments," said Lopez. "Cash and Callison are regulars. They've strengthened our club enough so that I think we can win the pennant.

"Why shouldn't I talk pennant? We got off to a lousy start last season and the Yankees had an unbelievably good one. In the last half-season, we outplayed every other team in the league. Now, with the kind of a start we got here in Detroit, this could be our year."

Yankees Trade Carroll, Snyder To Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Shortstop Mike Baxes and outfielder Bob Martyn, both utility men, were traded by the Kansas City Athletics Sunday to the New York Yankees for two rookies.

The A's also sent along an undisclosed amount of cash to get shortstop Tom Carroll, 22, and outfielder Russell Snyder, 24, from Richmond, the Yanks' farm in the International League.

Baxes, 28, started last season as the Athletics' second baseman, but he was used sparingly after a mid-season injury and hit only .212 in 73 games. Martyn, also 28, batted .278 in 95 games.

Carroll had a .289 batting average with Class AAA Denver and .278 with Class AA New Orleans last season. Snyder batted .285 with New Orleans.

Both Baxes and Martyn were assigned by the Yanks to Richmond.

First Shad Caught At Kingston Point

Eugene Van Steenburg caught the first shad of the season Sunday when he hooked a two and a half pound buck at Kingston Point. The fisherman said the weather is getting better and the shad will start biting this week.

THIS WAY—Max Schmeling, left, in Gotenburgh, shows Ingemar Johansson what he did to Joe Louis in 1936. The former champion reminded Floyd Patterson's challenger that there was no substitute for a solid right hand punch to the chin, which is what the Swede will attempt to land in New York on June 25.

Poughkeepsie Rates As Title Contender

Though they have lost their four years pitching star Joe Molinaro via the graduation route, the Poughkeepsie Pioneers must be picked as a definite threat to win their fourth straight DUSO Baseball League championship. The Pioneers open non-league play this Friday at Riverview Field against Beacon.

Coach Sam J. Kalloch has seven aspirants for Molinaro's job. They include Jim Ball, Dave Boucher, Jim Cody, Fred Lasher, Steve Saland, John Warman and Ed Williams.

Elsewhere, the team is pretty well set with veteran talent. Deke Johnson is gone from the outfield, Dave Bonner from second base and Pat McKenna from the catching spot. The others are back.

Hard hitting Herb Boschen, a first baseman last season, is trying his hand at catching, along with Len Wilcenski. Ball also plays first base when he's not hurling. Steve Albrecht is also at that spot. Second sackers are Allison Butts, Angelo Veronesi and Stan Waryas. Jim Gordon and Bill Piazza are the shortstops with Vic Guidice, Richard Sewell and Warman at third.

Outfielders are Carl Cerniglia, Dick DePew, Larry Levine, Tony Levine were selected on the All-DUSO squad last season.

Michigan Opens Poll to Check Deer Starvation

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—For all their touted methods, political pollsters have little on Michigan game experts when winter starvation cuts deeply into the state's big deer herd.

Nearly 200 state conservation men will strike out for the North Woods about April 15 on a survey to determine the starvation death total of one of the worst winters in memory.

By May 15, they hope to make a foot-by-foot search of 540 sections of deer country averaging 60 acres.

One experienced game biologist is assigned to each three-man survey team.

Each man scans an area one chain (66 feet) wide.

"We go to great lengths to make these surveys as accurate as possible," said R. A. MacMullan, research head of the game division. "We of course cover only a fraction of one per cent of the total deer country and any small error is compounded when we project our figures to estimate the total starvation losses," he said.

Surveys are run only in years when starvation losses are known to be heavy. The first was in 1956. This is the second one.

If the toll reaches the 50,000 estimated loss of 1951, and many game men say it will be more, conservation men will find several hundred dead deer on their survey, MacMullan said.

Greensboro Open To Finsterwald

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Golf's gypsies were on the 1,200-mile hike to Houston, Tex., today hoping to find some sunshine after a water-logged finish to the $15,000 Greensboro Open Tournament Sunday.

Dow Finsterwald battled through the biting cold wind and rain with a finishing six-over-par 77 but good enough to clinch first money with a 278 total, six under par.

Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., riding the year's hottest streak, closed with a 74 to finish second at 280.

Finsterwald won $2,000 and Wall, who won the Wilmington, N.C., Azalea Open and the masters at Augusta, Ga., the two previous weeks, picked up $1,500. It brought to more than $35,000 his earnings this year.

Sam Snead Third

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., gunning for his seventh Greensboro victory since 1938, finished with 70, the day's lowest score, for a 281 total and a third place tie with Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif. each won $1,100.

Sharing fifth place on 283 scores, worth $816 each, were Tom Nieporte of Bronxville, N.Y.; Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.

Locked in an eighth place tie at 284 were Mike Fetchick of Yonkers, N.Y., leader through the first two rounds; Frank Stranahan and Doug Ford, both playing from Paradise, Fla. Each won $650.

Marlboro Nine Hopes For Big Improvement

Marlboro High School was scheduled to open its season today with a non-league game at Cornwall. Coach Jack Kroh, making a guarded statement, said the UCAL is well balanced and declined to prognosticate on the chances of the Dukes. In 1958 they had a 5-5 league mark.

The roster contains a few seniors — Dom DiCapua, Richard Totino, Leo Mazzella. Among the returnees are Sam Mandia, Robert Sullivan, Brian White, Anthony Fino, Peter Lyons, Charles Brooks. Newcomers are John Williams, Joseph DiLiberto, Victor Mandia, Ron Bevevento, Charles Freligh, Sid Coutant, William Hyatt, Richard Woolsey, Nat Colletta, James Woodard, John Mataraza, Van Conn, Anthony Livonati, Richard Furhman, Joseph Caserto and John Jerring.

DiCapua and Sam Mandia are the holdover regular pitchers. Sullivan is the catcher. Coach Kroh is hoping for improved stickwork and defensive play by the club this year.

The A&A Asphalt team of Birmingham, Mich. took seventh place in the Open Division with a 3104 total.

Boating's 'In Season' All Year These Days

AMERICA AFLOAT

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Editor, Popular Boating
(Distributed by NEA Service)

If you are one of the 37 million Americans who went boating last year, you're undoubtedly planning already for the season ahead.

But if you are a member of an even larger group who are interested in the sport and would like to take part, you are in for a surprise this year.

Time was when a yachtsman in the North launched his boat on the 30th of May. Today you will find millions of boatmen "go into commission" by simply backing their cars down to the water's edge and floating off outboard runabouts from trailers. A sunny day any time of the year, any place in the country where the water is not frozen, will now bring out the modern boating family.

No longer can you live somewhere that is too far from the water. This summer will see father, mother, and the younger sailors pack up every weekend for a drive of sometimes 100 or 200 miles to reach a cruising area, and then live aboard full time for a week or so during vacation.

Today's experienced boatman will recommend that you study the improved craft now available if you plan to buy your first boat. Applications of wood, plastics, and metal have been markedly improved over the past few years and you will find your choice will be stronger in rough seas, faster over smooth water, and much easier to maintain.

Boatmen in the South who haul out their larger craft this time of year for a spring coat of paint, and Northerners who are doing the same before launching, will both be using new colorful coatings which now incorporate synthetics to lengthen resistance to weather and water. The extra strength of nylon rope, durability of plastic deck fittings, and higher horsepower of outboard and inboard motors are samples of this year's improvements.

FAMILY AFLOAT — These sailors are ready for a day of fun on the water long before the "season" officially starts. Supplies are loaded aboard their 19-foot utility outboard at home; boat is trailered to nearby waterway.

If you want to get started with something small for fishing on protected waters, look for a 10 to 14 foot rowboat or runabout, and an outboard for it you can stow in your car trunk. The boat may be light enough to lift and carry on your car top.

Moving out to open water and longer trips offshore? Choose a 16-footer or up, and a little more power.

The pleasures of overnight cruises are one target of this year's new designs. As with the past several years, the outboard cruiser seems to be the fastest growing class in popularity. Boating is the sport in which the whole family can participate together. This cruiser, usually 15 to 20 feet overall, is small enough to be trailered, and is still large enough for family overnight cruises and may be fast enough besides to pull water skiers.

Next step up is the inboard cruiser, and here you can install a great many of the comforts of home, with only your budget and seagoing ability as limits.

Sailing, too, is enjoying a new surge of popularity. Never before have so many boatmen pitted their skills against the wind. Sailboats are being trailered long distances, and all winter in chilly Northern harbors "Frostbite' sailors have been racing sailing dinghies.

No time of year is out of season any more for the ardent boatman.

Small world item: Robert Dittus, son of John Dittus Jr. of the Freeman typographical department, bumped into a couple of Kingston High School athletic stars—footballer Red Peck and John Kelly of basketball fame—at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. during the Easter recess. Fort Lauderdale, the fastest growing city in America, is a mecca for high school and college students during the Easter break. . . . Robert and his dad also visited with Marty Lenehan, formerly of Kingston, who resides at Oakland Park, near Fort Lauderdale. . . . Bruce Wiederspiel, Onteora Central's three-letter ace, appears headed for the University of Buffalo. He also has been signed by the Saugerties Dutchmen as a pitcher for their New York-New Jersey Baseball League squad. . . . Bob Shulman, another Onteora star, may wind up at the University of Bridgeport.

Long Predicts New Shot Mark

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) —Dallas Long thinks he should break the existing world shot put record this year by at least 3½ feet.

That may sound like a high ambition for an 18-year-old university freshman. But Long has some facts and figures to back up his words.

During an exhibition in Phoenix Saturday night, Long pushed the shot 64-feet 6-inches, bettering Parry O'Brien's world record by 16 inches.

On three other attempts the 6-5, 245 - pounder topped the world mark of 63-feet 2-inches.

The youong University of Southern California student said he should hit at least 66 feet this year.

"That's not what you could call my goal. It's just the distance I think I should reach by the end of the year. And the future? I'll have to wait and see how things develop."

Chisox Get Fast Start

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) —Those Go-Go White Sox are going places, says Manager Al Lopez.

"This is the fast start we've been looking for," said the Chicago manager after his club completed a sweep of a three-game series against the Detroit Tigers. "Beating a club as good as Detroit three in a row can do wonders for a club like the Sox."

Lopez has been a runnerup to the New York Yankees seven of the eight seasons he has been an American League manager. Always the optimist, Lopez contends each spring that his team is capable of beating out the Yankees.

Depends on Rookies

This year, the Sox skipper is depending on a pair of green rookies, neither of whom has had as much as two full seasons in the minor leagues.

"They can make or break us," said Lopez.

Lopez is talking about Norm Cash, a 24-year-old outfielder who was handed the first base job, and John Callison, a left fielder who just turned 20.

Cash hit his first major league home run in Sunday's 5-3 victory.

"These guys aren't just experiments," said Lopez. "Cash and Callison are regulars. They've strengthened our club enough so that I think we can win the pennant.

"Why shouldn't I talk pennant? We got off to a lousy start last season and the Yankees had an unbelievably good one. In the last half-season, we outplayed every other team in the league. Now, with the kind of a start we got here in Detroit, this could be our year."

Yankees Trade Carroll, Snyder To Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Shortstop Mike Baxes and outfielder Bob Martyn, both utility men, were traded by the Kansas City Athletics Sunday to the New York Yankees for two rookies.

The A's also sent along an undisclosed amount of cash to get shortstop Tom Carroll, 22, and outfielder Russell Snyder, 24, from Richmond, the Yanks' farm in the International League.

Baxes, 28, started last season as the Athletics' second baseman, but he was used sparingly after a mid-season injury and hit only .212 in 73 games. Martyn, also 28, batted .278 in 95 games.

Carroll had a .289 batting average with Class AAA Denver and .278 with Class AA New Orleans last season. Snyder batted .285 with New Orleans.

Both Baxes and Martyn were assigned by the Yanks to Richmond.

First Shad Caught At Kingston Point

Eugene Van Steenburg caught the first shad of the season Sunday when he hooked a two and a half pound buck at Kingston Point. The fisherman said the weather is getting better and the shad will start biting this week.

THIS WAY—Max Schmeling, left, in Gotenburgh, shows Ingemar Johansson what he did to Joe Louis in 1936. The former champion reminded Floyd Patterson's challenger that there was no substitute for a solid right hand punch to the chin, which is what the Swede will attempt to land in New York on June 25.

Poughkeepsie Rates As Title Contender

Though they have lost their four years pitching star Joe Molinaro via the graduation route, the Poughkeepsie Pioneers must be picked as a definite threat to win their fourth straight DUSO Baseball League championship. The Pioneers open non-league play this Friday at Riverview Field against Beacon.

Coach Sam J. Kalloch has seven aspirants for Molinaro's job. They include Jim Ball, Dave Boucher, Jim Cody, Fred Lasher, Steve Saland, John Warman and Ed Williams.

Hard hitting Herb Boschen, a first baseman last season, is trying his hand at catching, along with Len Wilcenski. Ball also plays first base when he's not hurling. Steve Albrecht is also at that spot. Second sackers are Allison Butts, Angelo Veronesi and Stan Waryas. Jim Gordon and Bill Piazza are the shortstops with Vic Guidice, Richard Sewell and Warman at third.

Outfielders are Carl Cerniglia, Dick DePew, Larry Levine, Tony Levine were selected on the All-DUSO squad last season.

Michigan Opens Poll to Check Deer Starvation

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—For all their touted methods, political pollsters have little on Michigan game experts when winter starvation cuts deeply into the state's big deer herd.

Nearly 200 state conservation men will strike out for the North Woods about April 15 on a survey to determine the starvation death total of one of the worst winters in memory.

By May 15, they hope to make a foot-by-foot search of 540 sections of deer country averaging 60 acres.

One experienced game biologist is assigned to each three-man survey team.

Each man scans an area one chain (66 feet) wide.

"We go to great lengths to make these surveys as accurate as possible," said R. A. MacMullan, research head of the game division. "We of course cover only a fraction of one per cent of the total deer country and any small error is compounded when we project our figures to estimate the total starvation losses," he said.

Surveys are run only in years when starvation losses are known to be heavy. The first was in 1956. This is the second one.

If the toll reaches the 50,000 estimated loss of 1951, and many game men say it will be more, conservation men will find several hundred dead deer on their survey, MacMullan said.

Greensboro Open To Finsterwald

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Golf's gypsies were on the 1,200-mile hike to Houston, Tex., today hoping to find some sunshine after a water-logged finish to the $15,000 Greensboro Open Tournament Sunday.

Dow Finsterwald battled through the biting cold wind and rain with a finishing six-over-par 77 but good enough to clinch first money with a 278 total, six under par.

Finsterwald, 29-year-old PGA champion from Tequesta, Fla., had a four-stroke cushion starting the final round, thanks to earlier rounds of 68-68-65.

Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., riding the year's hottest streak, closed with a 74 to finish second at 280.

Finsterwald won $2,000 and Wall, who won the Wilmington, N.C., Azalea Open and the masters at Augusta, Ga., the two previous weeks, picked up $1,500. It brought to more than $35,000 his earnings this year.

Sam Snead Third

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., gunning for his seventh Greensboro victory since 1938, finished with 70, the day's lowest score, for a 281 total and a third place tie with Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif. each won $1,100.

Sharing fifth place on 283 scores, worth $816 each, were Tom Nieporte of Bronxville, N.Y.; Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.

Locked in an eighth place tie at 284 were Mike Fetchick of Yonkers, N.Y., leader through the first two rounds; Frank Stranahan and Doug Ford, both playing from Paradise, Fla. Each won $650.

Marlboro Nine Hopes For Big Improvement

Marlboro High School was scheduled to open its season today with a non-league game at Cornwall. Coach Jack Kroh, making a guarded statement, said the UCAL is well balanced and declined to prognosticate on the chances of the Dukes. In 1958 they had a 5-5 league mark.

The roster contains a few seniors — Dom DiCapua, Richard Totino, Leo Mazzella. Among the returnees are Sam Mandia, Robert Sullivan, Brian White, Anthony Fino, Peter Lyons, Charles Brooks. Newcomers are John Williams, Joseph DiLiberto, Victor Mandia, Ron Bevevento, Charles Freligh, Sid Coutant, William Hyatt, Richard Woolsey, Nat Colletta, James Woodard, John Mataraza, Van Conn, Anthony Livonati, Richard Furhman, Joseph Caserto and John Jerring.

DiCapua and Sam Mandia are the holdover regular pitchers. Sullivan is the catcher. Coach Kroh is hoping for improved stickwork and defensive play by the club this year.

Unknown Keglers Almost Cop ABC

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An unheralded team almost walked off with the top prize in the American Bowling Congress Tournament Sunday night.

The A&A Asphalt team of Birmingham, Mich. took seventh place in the Open Division with a 3104 total.

Although they missed first place by 140 pins, the A&A team had an excellent chance to surpass the pace-setting Pfeiffers of Detroit who led with 3243.

Starting with 1071, the A&A team then improved to 1083, but slipped in the last game to 950.

Boating's 'In Season' All Year These Days

AMERICA AFLOAT

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Editor, Popular Boating
(Distributed by NEA Service)

If you are one of the 37 million Americans who went boating last year, you're undoubtedly planning already for the season ahead.

But if you are a member of an even larger group who are interested in the sport and would like to take part, you are in for a surprise this year.

Now you can get started boating more quickly than ever before. This coming weekend is not too soon to get out in the water.

Time was when a yachtsman in the North launched his boat on the 30th of May. Today you will find millions of boatmen "go into commission" by simply backing their cars down to the water's edge and floating off outboard runabouts from trailers. A sunny day any time of the year, any place in the country where the water is not frozen, will now bring out the modern boating family.

No longer can you live somewhere that is too far from the water. This summer will see father, mother, and the younger sailors pack up every weekend for a drive of sometimes 100 or 200 miles to reach a cruising area, and then live aboard full time for a week or so during vacation.

Today's experienced boatman will recommend that you study the improved craft now available if you plan to buy your first boat. Applications of wood, plastics, and metal have been markedly improved over the past few years and you will find your choice will be stronger in rough seas, faster over smooth water, and much easier to maintain.

Boatmen in the South who haul out their larger craft this time of year for a spring coat of paint, and Northerners who are doing the same before launching, will both be using new colorful coatings which now incorporate synthetics to lengthen resistance to weather and water. The extra strength of nylon rope, durability of plastic deck fittings, and higher horsepower of outboard and inboard motors are samples of this year's improvements.

FAMILY AFLOAT — These sailors are ready for a day of fun on the water long before the "season" officially starts. Supplies are loaded aboard their 19-foot utility outboard at home; boat is trailered to nearby waterway.

If you want to get started with something small for fishing on protected waters, look for a 10 to 14 foot rowboat or runabout, and an outboard for it you can stow in your car trunk. The boat may be light enough to lift and carry on your car top.

Moving out to open water and longer trips offshore? Choose a 16-footer or up, and a little more power.

The pleasures of overnight cruises are one target of this year's new designs. As with the past several years, the outboard cruiser seems to be the fastest growing class in popularity. Boating is the sport in which the whole family can participate together. This cruiser, usually 15 to 20 feet overall, is small enough to be trailered, and is still large enough for family overnight cruises and may be fast enough besides to pull water skiers.

Next step up is the inboard cruiser, and here you can install a great many of the comforts of home, with only your budget and seagoing ability as limits.

Sailing, too, is enjoying a new surge of popularity. Never before have so many boatmen pitted their skills against the wind. Sailboats are being trailered long distances, and all winter in chilly Northern harbors "Frostbite' sailors have been racing sailing dinghies.

No time of year is out of season any more for the ardent boatman.
